FLYNN GIVES 5 POINTS IN DEFENSE

Minister Designate to Australia Denies He Knew Appointee Was Gangster

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Edward J. Flynn, minister designate to Australia, told the Senate foreign relations committee today that when he swore in the late Arthur Fiegenheimer as a special deputy sheriff of Bronx county, he did not know that was the real name of Dutch Schultz, the gangster.

Earlier, an Assistant Secretary of State testified that Flynn's experience as federal commissioner for the New York World's Fair helped equip him to discharge the duties of minister.

Flynn, testifying at his own request, offered denials to all specific charges raised against him by Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, in opposing Senate confirmation of the diplomatic appointment.

The appointee testified immediately after Assistant Secretary of State G. Howland Shaw presented the State Department's endorsement of the appointment and said the Australian government had approved the appointment before it was sent to the Senate.

Shaw said Flynn was the President's personal choice.

Flynn told the Senators:

"These are political charges. They have been levelled against me in political campaigns. They are not true."

He made five specific points in his defense to charges made on the Senate floor by Bridges. They were:

He denied that, as a lawyer, he had ever represented Serge Rubinstein, identified in formal charges filed by Bridges as associated with Guijl Kassi, "a registered agent of the Japanese government." Flynn said, however, that his law partner, Monroe Goldwater, had been interested in a Rubinstein case.

There was no one, he declared, who could "say truthfully" that he ever knew, "at any time," that the courtyard on his Lake Mahopac estate was being paved with New York city-owned materials and labor.

He denied that Daniel Daly, foreman of a Bronx grand jury, that cleared him after an investigation of the paving block incident

TO RATION MORE PRODUCTS

OPA To Act On Canned Milk, Bottled Fruits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has signed an order delegating authority to the office of Price Administration to ration evaporated and condensed milk, jams, jellies, preserves, fruit butters, pickles, relishes, processed fish and shell fish, and food products that contain meats.

Wickard, acting in the capacity of food administrator, had previously announced that the OPA had been directed to ration canned and bottled fruits and fruit juices, canned and bottled vegetables and vegetable juices, canned soups, dried and dehydrated fruits, and frozen fruits and vegetables. These products are scheduled to be rationed under a point system late next month.

An order delegating authority to the OPA to ration the processed fruits and vegetables also included the other commodities.

U. M. W. WARNS STRIKING MINERS

Threatens Expulsion If President's Work Order Is Not Obeyed

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 20 (AP)—The United Mine Workers served notice on striking anthracite miners today that they face "dishonorable expulsion forthwith" if they refused to obey President Roosevelt's order to return to work by noon Thursday.

The UMW executive committee of District 1, to which the unauthorized work stoppage now is confined, issued the warning as thousands of miners, increasingly resentful of what they regard as the government's unwillingness to negotiate their grievances immediately, voted to stay out.

serveditu rnn cnouGo t u fi

M. J. Kosik, District 1 president, declared that "the majority of mine workers should not suffer because of the action of a small minority."

Angry mutterings of "Let the troops come!" were heard at meetings at which strike ballots were taken.

Karl Kratz, president of one revolting United Mine Workers' local, bluntly declared:

"I don't see why the government doesn't give the men the assurance that it will look into their grievances without the threat of force."

President Roosevelt served notice Tuesday that the strikers must go back within 48 hours and said if the order was not obeyed the government would "take the necessary steps to protect the security of the nation against a strike doing serious damage to the war effort."

The warning was widely interpreted to mean that troops would be dispatched to take over the mines.

Some spokesmen, unwilling to be quoted by name, have said they would welcome such intervention and "the consequent government proximity of our problems."

LEADERS FAIL TO COME BACK

Declines Sprinkled Through List Near Close; Selling Pressure Absent

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Leading stocks failed to find the comeback trail in today's market and modest declines were sprinkled plentifully through the list toward the fourth hour.

The selling pressure evident in Tuesday's session was absent, however, and volume shrank after a relatively active opening. Individual shares were propped by favorable developments.

Bonds were about steady and commodities uneven.

TOJO REPORTED ILL

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Office of War Information said the Tokio radio broadcast a report today that Premier Hideki Tojo is ill, and that the eighty-first Diet would be recessed until January 27.

The broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission as it was relayed by the Harbin, Manchukuo, station at 8 A. M. the OWL said.

HOUSE BACKS MOVE ON RAIL SERVICE

Passes Act Extending Governor's War Powers to Two Months After War

(Special to the News)

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20—The house this afternoon passed in concurrence a senate resolution requesting the public utilities administrator, Thomas J. Kennelly, to seek restoration of passenger railroad service on the Providence, Bristol, Fall River and Newport branch lines of the New Haven Railroad.

The bill originally was introduced in the senate by Senator John H. Finn, Newport Democrat, and was passed in the house at the request of Representative James J. Horgan, 2nd, Newport Democrat, who expressed hope that Kennelly would do all in his power to obtain restoration of the service in spite of the fact that the government has virtually frozen railroad transportation. The motion for passage was seconded by most of the Newport county delegation in the house.

The house passed unanimously an act extending the governor's war powers until two months after the conclusion of the war. The current act expires March 31. In addition to extending his original authority the new bill permits the governor, when the legislature is not in session, to suspend certain statues found to be in conflict with the federal war effort. In order to invoke these powers the governor must have the approval of the State Defense Council.

A proposed constitutional amendment lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 was presented jointly by Representatives James H. Kiernan and Samuel C. Kagan, Providence Democrats. Also introduced was a bill exempting cities and towns from the state tax on gasoline purchased exclusively for municipal purposes and providing for reimbursement by the state, of such taxes already paid. Claims for reimbursement would be filed with the state tax administrator within 120 days after they have been paid.

Under a bill introduced in the house, city and town fire authorities would be required to make periodic inspections of buildings every six months instead of at their discretion as the law now provides.

The house unanimously adopted rules for the 1943-44 sessions identical to those it operated under last year, thereby continuing an enlarged staff of house attaches. Normally 12 pages, one door keeper and four assistants serve in the house. Last year, because of war conditions, the staff was boosted to 17 pages, one doorkeeper and six assistants.

During Tuesday's session, Senator, William G. Troy, Providence Democrat, introduced an act creating a children's court with judges to be paid $9,500 and $9,000 annually.

Senator Ambrose McCoy's request for immediate consideration of a house resolution to have employers give a full week's pay to employes, in spite of compulsory closing because of fuel, was refused. The measure was sent to the judiciary committee.

Resolutions introduced in the house called for payment by the state of claims totaling $37,104.66 on a contract for a state bridge and for a state acquisition of land in North Kingstown.

The house received a communication from several employes of the state highway department, asking a "just increase in wages." It was placed on file without comment.

The house passed a joint resolution calling for suitable memorial exercises for Rhode Islanders in the fighting services.

An attempt by the Republican minority in the house to create a special committee, to study fire laws relating to amusement places, was defeated by the Democratic majority, which tabled the measure. The GOP forced a record vote, which stood 52 to 35, with 13 members not voting.

CHILE BREAKS WITH AXIS

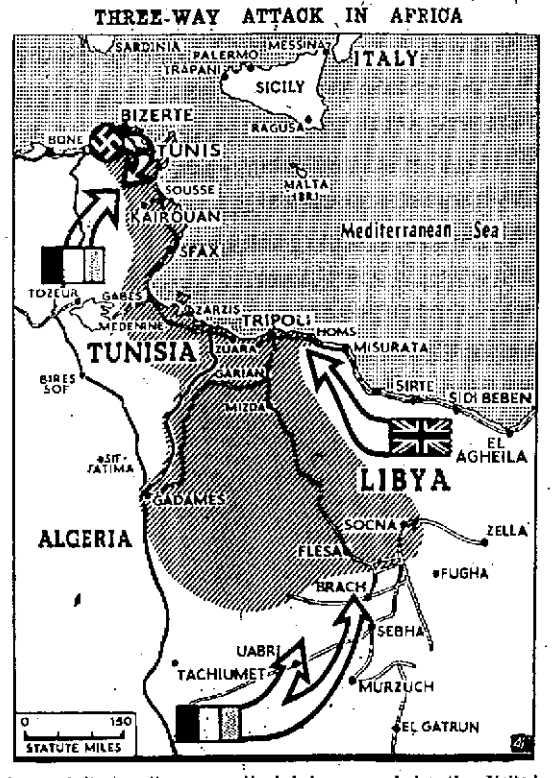

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 20 (AP)—Chile broke relations today with Germany, Italy and Japan, leaving Argentina the only American republic maintaining diplomatic contact with the Axis.

The decree was signed by President Rios after representatives of other American countries and Britain were notified of the step.

THREE-WAY ATTACK IN AFRICA

Arrows indicate a three-way attack being pressed by the United Nations against the Axis in northern Africa; The British 8th Army pushing along the coastal area westward toward Tripoli; the French forces of General Henri Honore Giraud, moving in from Algeria to come upon Axis-held territory from the south; and Allied forces in the Tunisian region, which clashed with the Axis northwest of Kairouan.

GOVERNOR, C. D. BODY, DISCUSS CLOSINGS

Revision Of School Order Appears Probable

McGrath Asks Education Director to Report On Coal Purchasing Possibilities

With closing of retail stores planned for Mondays, Governor J. Howard McGrath met with the State Defense Council this afternoon to obtain approval of an order closing non-war business and industry one day a week for the duration of the heating season.

There will be a long list of exceptions to the general order and these exceptions generally will be along the lines outlined by the governor last week at a conference with members of the General Assembly.

Retail stores would be closed Mondays, while industry might be allowed to close down on Saturday, with other buildings curtailing hours so that the general idea would be to achieve a one seventh of the week's heating saving.

The governor expressed hope that the curtailment of business and industries would not result in a cut in wages of employes.

"I hope no employer will make enforcement of the order more difficult by cutting the pay of employes," he said, adding that organized merchant groups has assured him they had no such intention.

Saving of fuel by the state through a closing of its buildings last Monday amounted to 1,600 gallons of oil, the governor reported. This is more than 1½ times the amount of rations allowed to heat an average home for an entire season.

There is a possibility, it was indicated, of revising the governor's executive order relative to the mandatory closing of schools Mondays. Dr. Michael F. Walsh, Newport's acting superintendent, and other school superintendents have registered objections because coal was the principal fuel.

The governor has asked Dr. James F. Rockett, state director of education, to report on whether the schools are experiencing difficulty getting coal. On the basis of this, Governor McGrath said he would consider an exemption to coal heated schools.

Jamestown, Middletown and Portsmouth schools, generally, are heated by coal. All Newport public schools, excepting Sheffield, use coal.

The governor said he expected the State Council to ratify his extension of the Monday closing plan. He declared that it would apply to all structures, whether they burned oil or coal, as he was concerned over the coal supply situation.

BABY GIRL BURNED TO DEATH IN HOME

Mother Suffers Severely in Rescue Effort

Heating Unit Ignites Blankets In Three-Months Old Child's Crib

A three-months old girl was burned to death in her home, 36 Dearborn street, this noon, when her blankets caught fire from a small electric heating unit, while her mother left the room for a moment. The mother, Mrs. Lillian Fisher Segal, a trained nurse, was severely burned in trying to save her child.

Mrs. Segal was giving the child an inhalation for a cold and the heating unit was on a chair close to the crib. The mother left the room for a moment and when she returned the blanket was blazing. She pulled the baby from the crib, while a neighbor sent an emergency call to fire headquarters at 12:05. This was followed three minutes later by a still alarm that sent Combination 2 to the house. The flames were quickly put out. Dr. Philomen P. Ciarla, medical examiner, later viewed the body and directed its removal to the Memrofal Funeral Home.

Mrs. Segal was rushed to the Newport Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Alan G. Silverton and kept there for further treatment. The burns, although not serious, will necessitate her confinement there for several days.

Mr. Segal, who is with the military forces, was inducted December 17 and sent to Fort Devens and later assigned to another post. He married Miss Fisher, a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., September 6, 1941. She is a graduate of the Newport Hospital Training School for Nurses in the class of 1941.

The emergency truck was manned by Firemen Daniel Gerberville, Thomas Sullivan and Roger O'Sullivan. Chief Joseph S. Lawton and Deputy Chief Abel S. Eldridge answered the call. Police Captain Henry E. Madden and Assistant Inspector Walter Shea also answered the alarm.

Word was sent to Mr. Segal and Mrs. Segal's mother, who lives in Brooklyn, and they both arranged to come to Newport as speedily as possible.

Axis Pushes French Back In Tunisia; Reds Speed Up Advance, Encircle Large Force Near Kharkov

RUSSIANS MAUL MANY DIVISIONS

Heavily Attack Garrisons Near Leningrad as Offensive Power Mounts

MOSCOW, Jan 20 (AP)—The Red army pressed ahead today with mounting force on its two newest offensive fronts, toward Kharkov in the Ukraine and along the newly opened corridor to Leningrad, and the Russians declared that the Germans had been unable to hold a successful defense anywhere along the battleline.

In their push southwest of Voronezh, where the Russians were 70 miles of the big German base at Kharkov, Red Star reported a "large enemy force" encircled and said the pace of the Russian advance was increasing.

In the north, the army newspaper declared that two powerfully fortified Nazi garrisons were under heavy Russian attack—one described as the "main stronghold" in the Volkhov sector south of Leningrad, and the other on the Leningrad front. They were not otherwise identified.

(British military sources said in London that in the Russian offensives so far 60 German divisions had been badly mauled and 29 of their satellite divisions practically knocked out. It was said that although these divisions were not entirely destroyed they had been hit so hard they could no longer be considered fighting units. These 89 divisions would represent some 1,335,000 men).

The Russians announced that Lieutenant General Filip Ivanovich Golikov, commander on the new Voronezh front, had been promoted to colonel general.

The advance on Kharkov stemming from the Voronezh sector, had pushed 50 miles through Valuiki junction point of three railroads east of Kharkov, and into Urazovo. The Red army here stood directly east of the ancient Ukranian capital often called the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine because of its industrial importance.

The occupation of Valuiki enabled the Russians to cut for the first time the rail line that runs north to Kasteronye, between Voronezh and Kursk, paralleling the main Moscow-Rostov line. The penetration to Urazovo put the Soviet army within 30 miles of Kupiansk, one of the first cities taken by the Germans in their offensive on the Kharkov front last summer.

A special communique claimed the capture of Kamensk after hard street fighting. This at once consolidated the Red army's bridgehead on the south bank of the Donets river and put a main body at a point 85 miles north of Rostov on the main Moscow-Rostov railway. Some advance guards are 10 miles near Rostov.

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP)—London was bombed and machine-gunned today in the largest German daylight raid since the battle of Britain, and preliminary reports indicated that at least 11 of the attacking planes were shot down by British fighters alone.

A school was smashed and set afie, and from its wreckage workers recovered many bodies and dug int othe debris for others believed killed or trapped alive.

Two sections of the city were bombed and some homes were destroyed.

The Germans attacked under cover of 50 to 100 fighters who patrolled the channel. It was estimated that 25 to 30 fighter bombers struck inland across Kent and Sussex. They were engaged by RAF fighters and only a few reached London.

Twenty-four persons were known to have been killed in the attacks on London.

Raiders skimmed the rooftops while others dodged anti-aircraft bursts in cloud cover high overhead. The attack began shortly after noon and the all clear was sounded a short time later.

The German planes were reported engaged by British fighters. It was not disclosed immediately whether the raiders were bombers or Focke-Wulf fighter bombers.

Eight planes skimmed the rooftops of one suburb, their black cross markings clearly visible.

Three other planes were seen high over the city. They disappeared into clouds as anti-aircraft shells burst near them.

Heavy gunfire was heard in the London area. Earlier in the morning intermittent firing had been heard.

It was London's first daylight alert since last October 23 when one was wounded during Mrs. Roosevelt's visit.

Bursts of heavy-caliber anti-aircraft fire shook some London buildings during the first few minutes of the alert. Civilians continued on their way along the streets, and civil defense workers hurried to their posts.

The planes attacked during the lunch hour, machine-gunning streets and buildings after sweeping in over southern England in greater force than in any daylight raid in two years.

It was a small-scale repetition of any of a score of days during the early aerial battle of Britain when the Luftwaffe frequently struck by daylight.

London 3

It was the first daytime alert for the British capital in three months and the first daytime bombing since last July 17.

Planes machine-gunned pedestrians and shoppers and men working in vegetable plots. Two barrage balloons were destroyed, one in flames.

A train approaching London was machine-gunned but no casualties were reported.

A number of spectators at a murder trial took shelter in the cells of Old Bailey when the trial was suspended during the alert.

But many persons remained in the streets to watch the biggest aerial battle over the city since the battle of Britain.

PLANES CONTINUE BLOWS AT TRIPOLI

Liberators Pound Sousse; Nazi Chutists Reported Dropped on Algeria

CAIRO, Jan. 20 (AP)—The British 8th Army closing in on Tripoli reached the crest of Nefusa ridge today for its last down-grade sweep of less than 50 miles against the bombed and burning Libyan capital which American bombers kept blasting daily.

Two of Lieutenant General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's columns were advancing upon Tarhuna and Homs, 40 and 60 miles, respectively, from Tripoli.

Nefusa ridge, which begins near Tarhuna, is linked into a semi-circle of rugged hills guarding Tripoli from the east and south and sloping like a saucer down to the Jefara plain between Tripoli and the Tunisian frontier.

B-24 Liberators blazed the way for the attack with continued heavy blows by daylight Tuesday against the Libyan capital, and extended their raids westward to the Tunisian supply port of Sousse, where a merchant vessel was hit and bombs burst along the docks and quays.

An American headquarters communique said: "At Tripoli cloud conditions obscured most of the bursts, but all the bombs hit within the target area."

American medium bombers raided Castel Benito airdrome, 13 miles south of Tripoli again, starting fires.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Axis tank forces, in an apparent attempt to divert pressure on Marshal Rommel's army retreat corridor to southern Tunisia, have smashed several miles into the French-held Allied positions southwest of Pont du Fahs.

Simultaneous with this disclosure by the Allied headquarters communique, an official French announcement said German paratroopists had been dropped in Algeria, presumably near the capital city of Algiers. Official offers of cash and clothing coupon rewards for their capture were published in the Algerian press.

The German tank column under General von Arnim slashed through the French Tunisian positions in a drive along the road from Pont du Fahs southwest toward Roban, about 28 miles away.

To the north of Pont du Fahs, an Allied headquarters spokesman said, "every Axis soldier who has advanced to the west side of the road running between Bou Arada

HIGH WINDS DAMAGE TOP PART OF ARENA

Middletown Firemen Called as Gale Rips Section of Roof; City Reports No Damage

Winds of near gale velocity swept Newport and the island Tuesday night and early this morning, but no injuries were reported today. The only accident happened when a section of the roof of the Arena in Middletown at the Newport line at Easton's Beach blew off.

Accompanying the high winds was a rapid drop in the temperature, which reached a low of eight degrees at 7 A. M., today, according to the thermometer at the Water Works pumping station. This was about 30 degrees lower than Tuesday's high, and made it among the coldest days of the winter. The temperature rose somewhat, and was 22 at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

James M. Maitland, proprietor, called James W. Barker, Middletown fire chief, when the roof buckled, hoping it could be lashed into place until the storm passed. The chief and firemen John Silvia, John Vilinlia and Frank Flores found it was impossible to do that and the section soon flew off with a crash. The hole it left was between 20 and 30 feet square.

Last Friday, Chief Barker said, an explosion in the oil burner at the bowling alley and skating center blew out the north wall of the boiler room causing damage of about $2,000.

Tuesday, many tree branches were blown off, homes were shaken by the high winds, but both state and local police reported no other damage.

BUDGET COMMISSION TO MEET TONIGHT

Council Chairman Plans to File Lease of Lawton Valley Land to Government

The Budget Commission, which will study the compilation of the budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1, will have a meeting in the Board of Aldermen's chamber at city hall this evening at 8 o'clock. Mayor Herbert E. Macauley and the Board of Aldermen as well as John B. Sullivan, chairman of the Board of Tax Assessors, are expected to meet with them.

Besides announcing the meeting of the commission at a dinner at the Muenchinger-King Tuesday night, Cornelius C. Moore, chairman of the Representative Council, said he planned to name today several council committees to make investigations as called for under resolutions passed at the inaugural meeting January 4.

He also planned to file for record today the lease of the Lawton Valley land from the city to the federal government. He commended Representative Erich A. O'D. Taylor for the work he had done in the house in the interests of the city in this matter.

JULIANA HAS DAUGHTER

Princess First Of House Of Orange Born Outside Netherlands

OTTOWA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands gave birth to her third daughter Tuesday night, a seven pound, 12 ounce princess for whom a little bit of Canada was proclaimed a little bit of Holland, so that she need not be born on foreign soil.

The four-room hospital suite was declared by the Dominion government extra-territorial for the confinement period. For all that, the little princess was the first member of the Royal House of Orange to be born outside the Netherlands and she is the first member of any European royal family to be born in North America.

The manager of Pueblo, Colo., hotel cut down the metal heads of the bedsteads and sent 8,000 pounds of scrap brass and steel to the local salvage committee.

AGREEMENT SEEN ON DIRECT PRIMARY

Representative Taylor Voices Only Opposition at Hearing

Entire House Sits as Committee; Measure Would Not Affect City Offices

With Representative Erich A. O'D. Taylor of this city the only one to speak in opposition, general agreement on the need of a direct primary act in Rhode Island, to replace the caucus and convention system of nominating candidates, was voiced Tuesday afternoon at a precedent breaking public hearing in the house chamber in Providence.

Sitting as a committee of the whole was the entire house membership, with Judge William E. Powers, Cumberland Democrat, presiding. It was the first time in the memory of the oldest member or house attache that a public hearing was held, not as usual in a committee room by a few members, but in the house chamber by all of its members. One reason for the situation is the fact that house committees have not yet been named.

Generally, the act, introduced by Representative James H. Kiernan of Providence, Democratic majority leader, provides for nomination of presidential electors, representatives to Congress, general officers of the state, senators and representatives at primaries to be held on the second Tuesday of September before the biennial November elections. Party caucuses and conventions still would be held for nomination of city or town officers. Provision is also made for primaries prior to special elections.

Mr. Taylor contended that the primary system is in effect a double election with double expense and double trouble. Answering the contention that the convention system causes apathy among the voters because they have no direct hand in the choice of candidates, he said if the voters are not interested enough to attend caucuses he doubted they should be "stirred out of their apathy."

Party organizations are able to get out the vote to both a primary and an election, he said, because party workers depend personally on election success. But, he pointed out, after all the expense and excitement of a primary campaign to nominate candidates, the net result would be to ask the people to come out, and do it all over again at the actual election and he doubted they would do so.

MRS. C. F. BUNKER RITES

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Bunker, wife of Charles F. Bunker, of Anthony street, took place from the Memorial Funeral Home to St. Mary's Church Tuesday morning, where a mass of requiem was said by the Rev. John F. O'Rourke, the pastor. Burial was in St Columba's cemetery.

The bearers, all members of the Fleet Reserve Association, were George Stevenson, John Rafferty, Patrick Bannon, Andrew Bernhart, Wayne Summers and Allen Miner.

The Fleet Reserve, of which Mr. Bunker is a member, and the Fleet Reserve Auxiliary, held services at the Funeral Home Monday night.

TEACHERS DISCUSS PRE-INDUCTION COURSES

Acting Superintendent Calls Session at Rogers to Outline Plans for 18-Year Old Pupils

At Rogers High School this morning Michael F. Walsh, acting superintendent of schools called a special meeting of several teachers in an effort to draw up special courses and figure ways and means whereby extra attention may be given to the present 18-year-old boys at Rogers. These boys are to be inducted after their graduation in June, but have the right at present to request from the board that they be placed in Class 1-B for the present so that they may complete their schooling.

The object of the meeting was to draw up plans to have this entire group given special courses in radio, typing and shop work as recommended by the army, courses in physics review, in mathematics review, physical education work, aeronautics and basic fundamentals in military tactics.

Present at the meeting were Major Charles R. Carlson, Ralph Kierstead, Miss Almira B. Coffin, Holbert T. Smales, Lloyd Robson and Joseph G. Nevins.

MRS. COWEY HEADS GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL

Succeeds Mrs. William P. Sheffield as Commissioner

Mrs. R. S. Emerson Becomes First Deputy, Mrs. H. T. Lowe Corresponding Secretary

Mrs. Felix F. Cowey was elected commissioner of the Newport County Council of Girls Scouts Tuesday afternoon at its annual meeting, succeeding Mrs. William P. Sheffield, who has held that post for the last three years, the time limit set in the constitution. The meeting was held at Girl Scout headquarters in the Maudsley House on Spring street.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Harold T. Lowe, Mrs. Edward J. Corcoran and Mrs. Thomas S. MacKnight, brought in the list of new officers. They included the first deputy commissioner, Mrs. Ralph S. Emerson, and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harold T. Lowe.

Mrs. Cowey has been active in the Girl Scout Council since 1934. She has been a Brownie troop leader for years was president of the Leaders Association and chairman of the training and organization committee that engaged and trained leaders for the troops.

Mrs. Emerson has been leader and council member for the past 11 years. She is also director of the Newport Day Camp. Mrs. Lowe, also active in the organization, succeeded Mrs. Alfred L. Carry, who has been prominent in Girl Scouting since its organization 25 years ago.

The annual reports of the standing committees, finance, camp, program, training, organization and public relations were presented in the form of questions and answers, led by Mrs. William MacLeod.

The council voted to continue its program of citizenship and healthy, balanced recreation, in order that the Girl Scouts may be fitted to take their places in the community in spite of adjustments and changes brought on by the present world conditions.

A resolution was passed, conveying the organization's thanks to Mrs. Sheffield for her work as commissioner.

Tea was prepared and served by scouts from Troop 11, who are studying the requirements for hostess badge. They were under the direction of Miss Margaret Shea, one of the troop leaders.

OPA TO CRACK DOWN ON PRICE VIOLATORS

Inspectors Check on Overcharges on Butter, Meat

State Body Hears Of Black Market In Providence; Voluntary Ration Not Being Observed

The state OPA office is preparing to crack down on markets and stores charging prices above the legal maximum for butter and meat, it was learned today. Hundreds of complaints have been received and OPA inspectors have been quietly investigating, with the result that the situation is at a point where definite charges will be preferred. Some complaints allege that prices as high as 89 cents a pound are being charged for hamburg and 80 cents a pound for butter where consumers are able to buy any at all.

The state OPA office also is investigating a reported black market in Providence, under which it is claimed that some markets are well supplied with beef obtained through "irregular channels."

Newport is getting its quota of meat under the government quota system, according to local meat distributors, but the amount is 25 per cent less than the 1941 sales, it was pointed out. No consideration was given to the increase in population over the 1941 figures, these distributors said.

Dealers who formerly bought meat from out of town concerns are now forced to buy from the distributing houses here, it was explained. With the quota based on 1941 sales, the amount coming here now is smaller than it would be had those sales been larger.

The situation is aggravated further, it was said, when workers who live in other cities make purchases here before returning to their own cities. One distributor said the amount of meats and other products taken from Newport by these purchasers contributes greatly to the scarcity here. The solution, in the opinion of this official, was a freer distribution insofar as meat was concerned.

A recent report of the State Council of Defense food committee stated that only compulsory consumer rationing will improve the condition throughout the state.

Large purchases of meat for the army and lend-lease are adding to the problem it was said. It was also pointed out that rationing of 2 1/2 pounds per week per person is not being observed.

MOTORISTS PENALIZED

The state registry of motor vehicles has announced suspension of the license of Henry A. Monsen, 3rd, of Old Fort road for failure to file an accident report; the license of Sonner Siegal of Pleasant street for conviction of speeding, and the license and taxicab registration of Walter G. Warren, 27 West Pelham street for improper use and operation.

FLYNN GIVES 5 POINTS IN DEFENSE

had been rewarded, at Flynn's suggestion, by appointment to a federal job.

When, as Bronx sheriff, he appointed Arthur Fiegenheimer as a special deputy, Flynn said he did not know that the man involved was Dutch Schultz, the gangster. Six months later, he said, he "lifted" Schultz' badge.

Flynn denied that he had given any special consideration, as New York city chamberlain, to the State Title and Mortgage Company, named in the Bridges' charges. He asserted further that investments he made were legal and any loss was occasioned by a drop in real estate values.

Flynn said his opponents had tried to imply that Schultz was appointed a regular deputy sheriff, which was "not so."

"He was never appointed as a paid appointee of the sheriff's office," said the former sheriff of Bronx County.

Flynn explained it had long been the custom in New York counties to appoint friends or persons recommended by friends as special deputy sheriffs. He had merely continued the practice, he said.

Before Flynn testified, Senator Bridges asked Shaw many questions as to whether the State Department thought the former Democratic national chairman was qualified to serve as minister.

Shaw had read a prepared statement, which said the Flynn appointment was a personal one by the President, and answered each time that he thought his prepared statement covered the matter.

Finally, Bridges asked: "Do you know of any other minister or ambassador who appointed a gangster and murderer as one of his associates?"

This refered to the Schultz appointment.

TAX FILING SLOW

Martin M. McLoughlin, deputy collector of internal revenue at Providence, said Tuesday that numerous statements by officials and others concerning the adoption of a pay-as-you-go plan before March 15, deadline has led many people to refrain from filing income tax returns in the belief that they would not have to pay 1942 taxes under the plan.

While the number to file this year is double that of last year, he said, only half as many have filed so far. He pointed out that taxes should be paid as usual.

1,032 JAPS WIPED OUT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Wiping out of 1,032 Japanese in five days of battling on Guadalcanal Island, in the Solomons, was reported today by the navy in a communique which told, also, of the bombing of a Japanese cargo vessel at Shortland Island, 300 miles to the northwest.

The heavy casualties inflicted on the enemy in the land action were part of a series of actions in which ground forces fought slowly forward against stiff enemy resistance.

For the most part they could be described as mopping-up engagements to clear Japanese groups away from Henderson Airfield.

TWO FROM COUNTY LISTED AS DEAD

Harry T. Swanson, Frederick L. Mayo on List; Thomas J. Wade Reported Missing

Harry Theodore Swanson, chief torpedoman, U. S. N., formerly of Newport and Frederick Lawrence Mayo, radioman first class, U. S. N., of Island Park, Portsmouth, are listed as dead in the latest list of Rhode Island casualties released by the navy. Thomas Jarratt Wade, pharmacist's mate first class, U. S. N., formerly of Newport, is listed as missing.

Swanson's address was given as 51 Dresser street, here, but a check there revealed that he had been transferred to sea duty more than a year ago. His wife, Mrs. Muriel Ruth Swanson, left Newport at that time.

Mayo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Mayo of Park avenue, Island Park, was one of five brothers. Upon graduation from Durfee High School in Fall River, in 1938, he enlisted in the navy and came to Newport for training. He was home about a year ago.

Wade is thought to be a prisoner of war since the fall of the Manila Bay area, his wife, Mrs. T. D. Wade, 233 Dean street, Providence, was informed in a letter from the Navy Department. Wade, who had 16 years in the navy, was stationed in Newport from 1936 to 1938.

GEORGE HAYDOCK DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Torpedo Station Supervisor Stricken at Church Supper; Firemen Respond to Call

George Haydock of Park street, an active worker of the Second Baptist Church and a supervisor at the Naval Torpedo Station, died of a sudden heart attack about 6:20 Tuesday evening while attending the Baptist Convocation supper being served at St. Paul's Methodist Church. A call was sent to the fire department and an emergency crew responded, but Captain Andrew Campbell and James Blake were unable to revive the stricken man. Dr. Philomen P. Ciarla, medical examiner, was called and gave permission to remove the body.

Mr. Haydock, who was 59 years of age, was born in England and came to this country when very young. He had been employed at the Torpedo Station for 28 years in the electrical department. Besides his church affiliations, he was a member of Mount Hope Lodge of Masons in Fall River.

His wife, Mrs. Florence B. Haydock, a daughter, Mrs. William R. Michael of Boston, and five sisters survive.

GERTRUDE M. JOHNSTON, PASKLE P. FLACK WED

Breakfast at Muenchinger-King Follows Marriage Ceremony in St. Mary's Church

Miss Gertrude Mary Johnston, daughter of Robert M. Johnston and the late Mrs. Johnston of 51 Holland street, and Paskle P. Flack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paskle M. Flack of 15 Harrison avenue, were married this morning in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. John F. O'Rourke, the pastor. Miss Rita Nagle was bridesmaid and William B. Dwyer was best man.

The bride wore a pale blue suit with matching feather hat and a corsage bouquet of pink camelias. The maid of honor wore a gold silk suit with a hat of orchid feathers and a corsage bouquet of Ceppi orchards.

A wedding breakfast at the Muenchinger-King followed the ceremony. The bride is employed at the dispensing office at the Naval Training Station and the bridegroom is employed at the post office.

ALLIES HOLD JAPS IN FOUR POCKETS

Carry Out New Raids on Lae, Timor; British Bomb Burma Bases

[By The Associated Press]

On the New Guinea front, despatches said Allied troops inflicted such heavy casualties that only 27 Japanese prisoners were taken in the capture of Sanananda Point and Sanananda village, wiping out the enemy's last major garrison on the Papuan peninsula.

Four isolated Japanese groups, tightly pocketed by American and Australian troops, still held out in the coastal jungles.

General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that while the mopping up of enemy land forces continued, Allied bombers renewed the assault on Japanese bases at Lae, New Guinea, on Timor Island, on the Kate Islands, and at Gasmata, New Britain.

In the Burma theatre, RAF bombers hit the Japanese in new "softening up" raids, attacking Rathedaung, 25 miles north of the big enemy base at Akyab, and the enemy-occupied village of Padall, on Akyab Island.

British headquarters said Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's forces, driving back into Burma from India, were meeting continued Japanese resistance above Akyab, but no important change was reported.

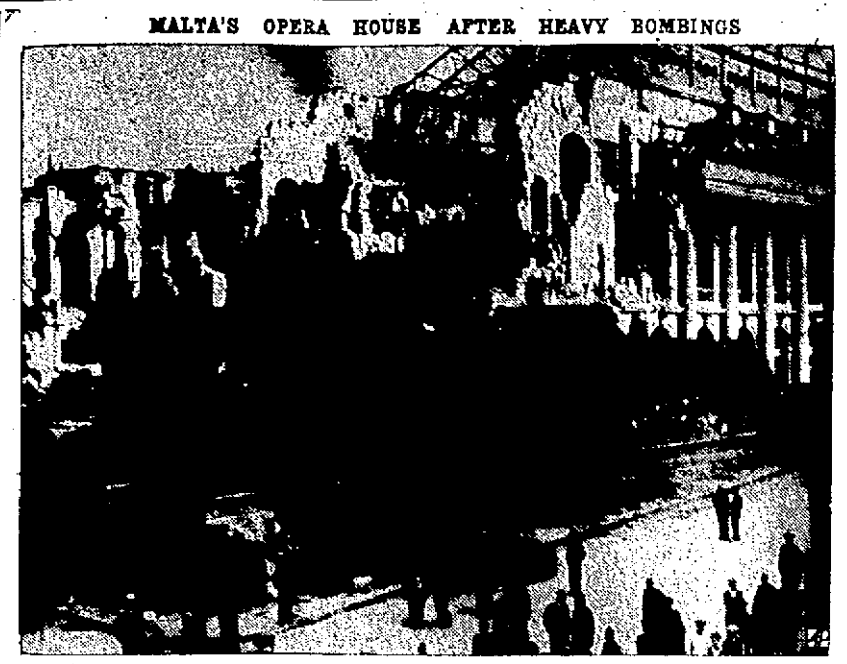

A communique said Rathedaung was left "well on fire" after the RAF's latest attack there.

RAF night fighters were also credited with shooting down two Japanese bombers when the enemy raided Calcutta, India, for the seventh time.

MALTA'S OPERA HOUSE AFTER HEAVY BOMBINGS

This was the Grand Opera House of Malta, "most-bombed island in in the world," but now it resembles some of the ruins of ancient Rome. Since the Allied North African campaign gave the Axis something new to think about there have been fewer attacks on Britain's mid-Mediterranean stronghold.

POLICE, SERVICE MEN IN FREE-FOR-ALL

Five Marines, Two Sailors Taken Into Custody After Fight on Thames Street

Police, marines and sailors had a free-for-all at the corner of Thames and Mary streets this morning that necessitated sounding the riot call about 1 A. M. Three scout cars with officers sped to the rescue of several of their colleagues who were surrounded by about 15 service men attempting to prevent several others from being arrested.

Although five marines and two sailors were taken into custody, no action was brought against them in court this morning, all being turned over to their respective authorities. One patrolman was cut on the nose when hit by a glass, and one marine was taken to the Naval Hospital for a cut on the head as a result of the melee.

The only matter in court this morning outside of a woman who paid $5 and costs for drunkenness and a man who pleaded not guilty to the same charge, the case going over to Jan. 29, was that of Gordon Fabildgaard, 19, a sailor who pleaded nolo to a charge of smashing a window in the Century Store on Thames st at 2 o'clock this morning. He was cut over the eye in a scuffle with police and was taken to the Naval Hospital for treatment. This morning Judge Arthur J. Sullivan put him on probation so he could pay for the window.

The free-for-all began at a restaurnat on Thames, stree near Mary, when three marines became troublesome. One smashed a plate against the wall, and tipped over the cash register containing $265, spilling money over the floor, but there was no attempt to steal any.

Patrolman Michael J. Murphy was called from a nearby night spot. He was hit on the nose with a glass, drawing blood, but collared one marine.

Dr. John L. Healy, city physician, treated Patrolman Murphy's nose. Private Charles F. Corcoran was the marine treated at the hospital for a cut on the head. He was held for observation.

Those arrested were Donald Campbell, U. S. N., Corporal John F. Dolan U. S. M. C. Private George W. Yzgiurdo, U. S. M. C. Kendall H. Dunbar U. S. N. Private Charles F. Corcoran U. S. M. C., Private Enrica U. Bonetti, U. S. M. C., and Segeant Alexander E. Ptak, U. S. M. C.

TEXAS TOPS ENLISTMENTS

Rhode Island Third in Rank on Population Basis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Texas leads the states in army enlistments since Pearl Harbor, on a population percentage basis.

From a population of 6,414,824 as shown in the 1940 census, the state had 53,015 enlistments up to November 1, 1942, or a percentage of .826.

Statistics published in the Congressional Record today showed that from December 8, 1941 to November 1, 1942, army enlistments from the 48 states totaled 691,724.

The statistics were given in a speech by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, who said he obtained the figures from the War Department and had been authorized by it to release the information.

Next closest state to Texas was Vermont, with 2,336 enlistments out of a total population 359,231, or a percentage of .650. Third in rank was Rhode Island, whose enlistments of 4,501 came from a population of 713,346, or an enlistment percentage of .631.

Enlistment from other states included: Connecticut 9,025; Main 3,670; Massachusetts 26,093; New Hampshire 3,116; New York 67,050.

"HENRY ALDRICH" WEDS

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The marriage of Master Sergeant Ezra Stone, stage and radio actor, and Miss Sara Seegar, of Kokomo, Ind., was revealed by friends today. They were married October 5 at Washington. Sergeant Stone is now appearing in Irving Berlin's "This Is The Army", which he directed.

Mrs. Stone, a stage and radio actress, appeared in the radio show, "Henry Aldrich", in which Stone starred, and also appeared in the London production of "Three Men On a Horse".

MRS. R. L. OMAN DIES

Mrs. Catherine Goddard Oman, 86, died Tuesday evening at the Perkins Nursing Home on Mount Vernon street. She was the wife of the late Robert L. Oman. Surviving are two sons, Benjamin G. Oman of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Robert L. Oman, Jr., of this city, and three grandsons, Benjamin Oman, Jr., radioman second class, U. S. N., Lieutenant William S. Oman, U. S. N, and Charles Robert Oman

The funeral will take place at the Hambly Funeral Home Thursday at 11 A. M.

SOME "GAS" COUPONS TO EXPIRE THURSDAY

Many Conversions of Heating Plants Completed, Others Await Materials

All A-3, C and maximum B value gasoline coupons will expire Thursday at midnight, the Ration Board emphasized today. Third period B rations of maximum validity, third period C rations and A-4 coupons become valid Friday. The valid perid for oil coupon No. 2 will end January 26. Hotels, restaurants and the like were reminded to file application for February-March coffee allotments before February 5.

Fuel oil dealers have been requested to turn in all I. O. U. coupons as soon as possible, the ration board said.

Many more conversions of heating plants to coal have been completed within the last two weeks, the board said. Some of these conversions had been held up awaiting the arrival of necessary materials. The board said many of the conversions were being done voluntarily and were then reported to them. People were becoming more agreeable to the idea of converting, officials said. No more stokers are available and the question of grates at present is not settled.

WILLIAM A. MOTTE DIES

The funeral of William A. Motte, for 38 years a New Haven Railroad employe, until retirement in 1938, and father of Frederick J. Motte, state liquor control administrator, will be held Thursday morning, from his home, 3 Young avenue in Providence, to St. Patrick's Church, Smith street, where there will be a mass of requiem at 9 o'clock. Mr. Motte died Monday in St. Joseph's Hospital after six weeks' illness.

NAZIS KEEP 200 U-BOATS AT SEA

Britons Say Hitler Attempts to Keep Allies' Output from Battlefields

(By James King)

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP)—In an attempt to keep the tremendous output of Allied war factories from the battlefields, Adolf Hitler was said by British naval observers today to be maintaining 200 U-boats of his fleet of perhaps 500 at sea all the time.

As the Germans gave indications of pinning their hopes more and more on an ever-increasing fleet of submarines, which many Allied leaders rate as the greatest menace to the United Nations, demands were heard in Britain for faster freighters to outrun the U-boats.

An unofficial British estimate was that Germany is building from 15 to 20 submarines a month—faster than naval observers here believe the Allies are sinking them.

The German radio, meanwhile, boasts to the world that the new U-boats are able to stay longer at sea than the old ones and that they are getting torpedoes, supplies and even new crew members from large "Mother U-boats."

Lord Cranborne, Lord Privy Seal, told the House of Lords Tuesday that "the scale of U-boat attacks is increasing and it is probable that the peak has not yet been reached."

He warned that "we can expect no relaxation of the U-boat campaign" and that it "can be expected to continue unabated until the very last hour of the war."

Germany now is reported to be building U-boats by prefabrication in much the same way as freighters in the United States. Parts are being made all over Europe, it was said, and assembled in great bomb-proof caves and concrete pens in French Bay of Biscay ports.

Most of the submarines met in the Atlantic are of the heavy ocean-going type of 1,060 tons or more, with a surface speed of 18.5 knots and a better than ordinary under-water speed through the use of nickel instead of lead in storage batteries.

Submarines working off the Spanish coast and as far west as the Azores are said to be probably of the coastal type using French Bay of Biscay ports. They are from 250 to 750 tons and have a surface speed of 13 knots.

A cut in the amount of 35 mm. film that the motion picture industry may use in 1943 will save enough film to stretch three times about the earth at the equator.

FIRE DESTROYS JAMESTOWN CABIN

Firemen Prevent Spread of Flames to Other Structures; Reflection Seen in Newport

Jamestown firemen were called to a fire in a small cabin on the Arthur Hull farm on North Main road at 6.45 P. M., Tuesday. The cabin was practically destroyed before the firemen reached the scene, but they were able to protect adjacent structures from embers carried by the high wind.

The reflection of the blaze was visible in this city and resulted in numerous telephone calls to the local fire department.

AFRICANS WATCH PEYROUTON'S MOVE

Free French Critical of Appointment of Algerian Governor General

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 20 (AP) — On the political front confused North Africans watched for the first move of Marcel Peyrouton, the new Algerian governor general long-time foe of Pierre Laval.

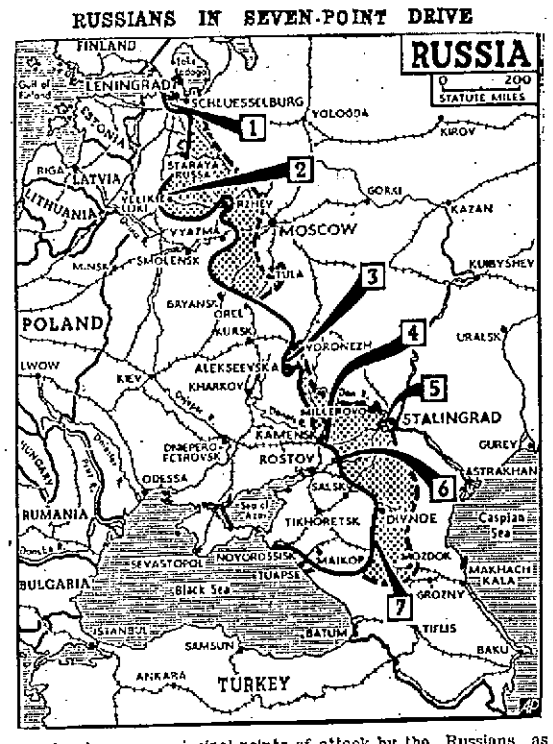

Peyrouton was named Tuesday to replace Yves Chatel in what observers here regarded as a move to install a firm and expert administration and at the same time rid Algeria of Laval sympathizers. Peyrouton's experience as a former governor genera of Tunisia aso was expected to be invaluable in the all-out clash which the rapid retreat of Rommel's forces was bringing closer hourly.

Peyrouton, a former minister of interior in the Vichy government and later ambassador to Argentina, is known as an outstanding administrator. Informed sources were confident today that his appointment meant a thorough house-cleaning if minor pro-Laval political figures in Algeria.

(The fighting French in London were immediately critical of Peyrouton's apnointment and spokesman said: "It is impossible to estimate how many thousand French patriots were sent to prison and tortured by Peyrouton during his tenure of office as chief of Vichy police and minister of the interior." He was described by the Fighting French as a former Fascist sympathizer.

(The London Daily Herald, Laborite newspaper, said the appointment was a "political blunder of the first water," and added. "Peyrouton is distrusted by Frenchmen of all parties, detested by the Arab population and loathed by de Gaulle and his colleagues. A worse choice could not have been made.

RUSSIANS IN SEVEN-POINT DRIVE

Map showing seven principal points of attack by the Russians as they push back the Nazis all along the miles of front: (1) Leningrad front, where the siege of the city by the Germans has finally been lifted; (2) the advance beyond Velikie Luki; (3) the push southwest of Voronezh; (4) the advance from Millerovo toward Rostov; (5) attacks on the remnants of 22 Axis divisions trapped before Stalingrad; (6) the lower Don push near Rostov; and (7) the drive up through the Caucasus.

OIL DESTINED FOR R. I.

BOSTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Arrival in Boston of the first box-car train transporting kerosene from Texas—32 cars loaded with 85 to 90 steel 55-gallon drums apiece—was announced by Colonel Thomas F. Sullivan, Massachusetts state fuel conservator, today.

Seventeen of the cars were destined for Boston, four for Revere, three for Fall River and one each for East Providence and Tiverton, R. I., and Quincy and North Dartmouth. The remainder were unassigned.

Another shipment is expected Friday, the cars to contain 180 to 246 drums each.

STEEL WORKERS OUT

LACKAWANNA, N. Y., Jan. 20 (AP)—About 1,500 workers at Bethlehem Steel Company's Lackawanna plant failed to report for work today in sympathy with a five-day strike of 100 electrical maintenance employes, a CIO official said.

SUB TAKES PRISONERS

Italian Craft Seizes Four From Ship Sunk in South Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—A passenger suspected of knowledge of ship movements was taken prisoner aboard an Italian sub which sank an American merchant vessel in the South Atlantic late in December, survivors revealed here recently.

Four passengers from the ship, including Robert Carter, a seaman of New York City, said the Italians also took an Italian-speaking mess boy into custody.

Hearing the boy speak Italian, one of the sub crew shouted "traitor" in English.

The ship was sunk by the explosion of a single torpedo. A passenger, seeing the wake of the missile, ran through the cabin deck shouting the alarm. The torpedo exploded beneath the cabins.

SUGAR SHORTAGE CAUSES CONCERN

No Accord Reached on Agency for Rail Wage; "Meatlogging" Reported

WASHINGTON, Jan 20 (AP)—While Congress saw propects of a Democratic internal squabble dispelled by a party vote to keep the only American labor Congressman from a major committee, concern was manifested in various ither quarters today over the threat of a new sugar shortage and failure of government officials to agree on which aceney should pass judgement on railway wage demands.

Moving against alleged violations of meat price ceilings and bootleg operations tending to aggravate the shortage, an office of Price Administration spokesman asserted; "We must naturally do something about it."

Persistent reports have been received from all agricultural areas of "meatlegging," he said, with livestock being slaughtered surreptitiously in out-of-the-way, improvised abbatoirs. Meat salesmen in some sections were claimed by OPA to have charged above ceiling prices of several cents a pound before they would sell meat.

The threat of a new sugar shortage was seen in an announcement by farmers who produce 85 per cent of current domestic supplies, that unless the price of sugar beets is raised, they will shift to other crops.

The Agriculture Department's assertion a week ago that it would pay farmers special incentive payments on potatoes and beans to encourage greater production brought protests from sugar beet growers that it was more profitable to grow such crops. Accordingly, they asked for increased prices or the offer of similar incentives.

On Capitol Hill meantime, the House Democratic leadership which had recommended that Representative Vito Marcantonio, New York American Laborite, be made a member of the important judiciary committee, bowed to strenuous Southern opposition.

and Goubellat" has been cleared out.

"We hold the high ground to the southeast of Bou Arada," the spokesman said, "and our artillery by continuous shelling is denying (enemy) use of the road running almost due west from Pont Du Fahs."

It appeared evident that von Arnim's column was bending every effort to prevent an Allied assault on the narrow corridor south of the Pont Du Fahs area which is his sole land communication with Rommel's Africa corps now fleeing the British 8th army in Libya.

Illinois Gives Scientific Help to Towns Through Mobile Equipment

[By Marion Burson]

CHICAGO, Jan. 19—The Illinois State Police are bringing scientific crime detection to smaller communities with a mobile laboratory and emergency unit that can be rushed to the scene before the evidence gets cold.

Mounted on a truck chassis and resembling a highway bus, the 16-ton laboratory is another achievement of Leonarde Keeler, Chicago criminologist and inventor of the lie detector. The unit, built at a cost of $25,000, is better equipped than many police departments, said Keeler, and its services are free to the city and county officials.

It is fitted out with such inducements for suspects to "tell all" as a lie detector, sound recording equipment, fingerprint kit and chemicals for nitrate and blood-stain tests, restoration of numbers on metals and analyses of unknown substances.

There are also microscopes, magnifying glasses and motion picture and other cameras, a refractometer, an ultra-violet (black light) lamp, equipped for making plaster molds and an X-ray unit carrying a 300-foot extension for examining suspected bombs at a safe distance.

Used For Riots

Although developed primarily to give local police assistance in solving crimes, the big blue and white van has been equipped for disaster and riot service, and Governor Dwight H. Green has called it an "invaluable" safeguard against sabotage.

It has powerful searchlights to illuminate the scene of a train wreck, mine disaster or similar catastrophe; an emergency electric power station and radio transmitter; fire extinguishers, extension ladder and hose; asbestos suits, fire blankets and stretchers; acetylene torches for cutting through wreckage; and oxygen masks and resuscitation equipment for rescue work.

In the rear of the truck is a hospital where two operations can be performed simultaneously, complete with surgical tools and supplies.

Contains Combat Unit

A combat unit which Keeler says is "tough enough to handle anything short of an army tank" has an arsenal of standard police weapons. Behind the driver's compartment is a turret of armor plate and bullet-proof glass that, operated by a hydraulic hoist can be raised to a commanding position four feet above the roof.

In riots, the truck should be able to stand off an armed mob with little bloodshed while one of the three-man crew "talks sense" to the rioters over a public address system, said Keeler.

Based in Springfield, the men assigned to the mobile unit are Walter Beecher, a psychologist and John Schaich, a chemist, both graduates of the University of Pittsburgh and Lieutenant John Stuner, a lifeguard at a Springfield beach before joining the State Police.

The unit has had no real tests yet, though it was sent to Joliet at the time Roger Touhy and his six confederates escaped Stateville penitentiary. There lie-detector tests were given to several prison guards and analysis was made of the inflammable bombs the gang had contrived by filling electric light bulbs with gasoline.

HOUSING AUTHORITY SUCCESSFUL BIDDERS

Receives Proposals For Third, Fourth Series Of Temporary Loan Notes

Salomon Brothers and Hutzler were the successful low bidders for the third series of temporary loan notes totalling $500,000 and the fourth series totalling $605,000 when the Newport Housing Authority opened the proposals at a meeting this afternoon with W. S. H. Dawley, chairman, presiding. The respective bids were .82 plus $11 premium and .82 plus $15 premium.

The other bids for the third and fourth series in that order were Harvey Fiske and Co., .85 plus $17 and .85 plus $18; Central Bank and Hanover Trust Company, .87 plus $10 and .87 plus $10; Chemical Bank and Trust Company, .87 and no premium in both bids; Industrial Trust Company, third series only, .88 and no premium.

The authority passed a resolution praising Captain Frank H. Roberts, U. S. N., (retired), who is to be detached from the post of inspector of ordnance in charge of the Naval Torpedo Station.

DEMOCRATS FETE COUNCIL CHAIRMAN

Speakers Express Views on Governor's Fuel Saving Plan

City, State Officials Attend Banquet Held at Muenchinger-King

Varying viewpoints on Governor J. Howard McGrath's intentions regarding Newport in fuel saving were expressed and a plea for a written record of the state of the city government when the Democratic regime took it over was made at a banquet tendered by Cornelius C. Moore, Representative Council chairman, at the Muenchinger-King Tuesday night.

Attending were the mayor, the Board of Aldermen, the Representative Council with the exception of Dr. Edmund W. Pardee, lone Republican member who was reported ill, several elected members since resigned, the Newport delegation to the General Assembly, Attorney G eneral John H. Nolan, Gardner Easton, public works commissioner, Henry B. Whalen, city clerk, and Miss Frances S. Fullerton, deputy city clerk.

On the fuel situation, Mayor Macauley reiterated his belief that an exception should be made here. He said the city cannot close laundries, vital to health, or restaurants serving 36,000 meals a week to the navy. The city, he believed, is an armed camp, and closing might lead to an epidemic and reduction of production at the Naval Torpedo Station. He felt there was no need to close schools that burn coal.

Attorney General Nolan said he was an unofficial adviser to the governor on the fuel matter, and there was no intention of curtailing essential, healthful industries. There is no thought of closing laundries or restaurants, the attorney general said. He saw no reason why the schools should not save what they can against the time when there will be a real coal shortage.

Chairman Moore referred to a rental of the city's equipment, saying a piece valued at $4,800 when bought was rented at $1 an hour, and is now hardly worth the money to cart it to the junk pile. He felt the city should find out who rented, under what terms, and if the city is entitled to depreciation.

Chairman Moore acted as toastmaster and after the dinner there was a speaking and general discussion period. Other speakers included John Nicholas Brown, council member and chairman of Civilian Defense, State Senator John H. Finn, city chairman, Representative Erich A. O'D. Taylor, Aldermen Edward A. Martin, Louis H. Scott, James A. Dwyer and M. Thomas Perrotti, and several council members.

Mr. Moore said the purpose was to get acquainted and understand each other's approach to the various problems to be faced.

"I ask you during the time I am chairman of the council that each councilman believe it to be his or her duty to express his or her views and they will be accepted in that way," he said. "Everyone can make suggestions and help. Only in that way can we arrive at solutions of our problems for the best interest of the city, and the taxpayers as a whole."

Chairman Moore said partisan phases of city government were not of Democratic making, the charter was never approved by the people, there was never a referendum. He said this partisanship government has now been very largely concluded

Tells of Fund Need

The speaker said he had conferred with the public works commissioners. He said the past council had appropriated what it felt would be enough for the department for the fiscal year ending March 31, but the present council would have to appropriate $30,000 if that department is to function as it was intended. He said that sum was spent over and above the amount appropriated.

The chairman said only $3,000 is left in the waste collection appropriation and $11,000 is needed for the remaining months of the fiscal year. He referred to the sinking fund commission, and said he wanted the council to establish a record as to the value of securities when this government took over.

Mayor Macauley expressed the belief that the taxpayers' reaction to the program is far-reaching. He said many of the councilmen are property owners and they aim to safeguard the tax rate, foster economies, yet to appropriate what is needed.

The mayor said the city got $33,600 from the Tonomy Hill agreement instead of the original 15 per cent shelter. He said the Lawton Valley Water project was a month and a half behind because of weather and materials, but the dam would be completed in May.

Praises Health, Police Records

"In two years the city will be up and coming, probably one of the largest naval bases, and I have no fear that the Torpedo Station will be taken away," he said. "In the end we will gain more in taxes than the federal government took."

The mayor said Newport had the cleanest health record in the country, and the police have done a great job.

Mr. Brown said everyone owed Mr. Moore a great debt, for being patriotic to take over chairmanship at a serious time.

Mr. Taylor asked support for the pension bill for former city solicitor Jeremiah A. Sullivan. He spoke of the fuel situation as a very immediate danger. He said it has been agreed not to bring the charter before the Assembly this year because if an election were to be held it would not be fair because such a large percentage of voters would be unable to take part because of being off to the war.

Dr. Finn expressed the hope that support could be obtained for acquisition of the Mount Hope bridge.

Councilman Dominic Caruso said he never saw a better council program. Alderman Edward A. Martin felt the council had a responsible duty, and with co-operation between the aldermen and the council the taxpayers could be pleased much more than in former years.

Mr. Moore added later that an investigation he made showed 50 articles were bought at 33 1/3 more than any person could buy them for in the open market.

After Alderman Dwyer moved a rising vote for Mr. Moore, Councilman Joseph N. Stanley urged looking to the great obligations the council has incurred and forgetting small things. Mrs. Frances Bonaventure hoped laundries are not closed and that everything would be done to conserve fuel.

Tells of Fire Menaces

Alderman M. Thomas Perrotti said the aldermen would work with the mayor 100 per cent if the mayor worked 100 per cent with them.

Councilman Alfred A. Fournier thought all should get together and play the game square and everyone should know what it's all about to show the Democrats have a good city government.

Alderman Louis H. Scott reported he had been investigating fire menaces and declared there was "a lot of them. He said there are many buildings that should be "torn down, or blown up or taken were "a lot" of them. He said there department is underpaid and undermanned.

Councilman Samuel Kravetz said perhaps the schools could close in February and remain open in July as a fuel measure. He said he wanted to see more playgrounds.

GIRL REPORTER SPAR FOR A DAY

Describes Life of Group of Coast Unit Invading Male Territory

[By Vivian Brown]

NEW LONDON, Conn., Jan. 20 (AP)—Yo-ho-ho and anchors aweigh! Pardon me if my vocabulary has acquired a slightly salty tinge, but I have just completed a visit to the United States Coast Guard Academy here, where something new has been added—a dozen pretty girls.

Not only have the SPARS shattered a 152-year precedent by being admitted into the coast guard. They are making themselves at home in the academy that once was exclusive male territory—living in a wing of Chase Hall as officers, having a mess in the wardroom, attending classes, doing their washing, ironing and mending.

I was with the first group of SPARS being trained for personnel, communications, organization and administrative duties. Eleven of them had been indoctrinated as WAVES and were absorbing two weeks of "Coast Guard flavor" at the academy. Later they were to help organize SPAR recruiting centers throughout the United States. Though enlisted SPARS will receive their training along with a contingent of women on college campuses, officers will continue to receive training at the academy.

The training of WAVES and SPARS is similar except that SPARS have an additional 40 minutes before lights out and can sleep 15 extra minutes in the morning.

The bunk assigned to me for my stay proved to be a regular bedroom. Two SPARS bunk in a room, each have a chest of drawers, mirrored locker and a desk.

Living with the SPARS for two days indoctrinated me as far as bugles are concerned. The first time I heard a bugle at 6:45 a. m. I wanted to roll over in my bunk.

Ensign Mary Kennedy, who was O.D. (officer of the day), knocked politely and put an end to my dreams.

"Brown," said she, "if you are going to classes, you can come have breakfast with the rest of us.

Breakfast consisted of fruit, cereal, real cream, eggs, good coffee, toast and two pats of butter. Officers pay 75c a day for meals, receive $21 a month subsistence.

As we ate we could watch the sunrise just over the harbor, while Coast Guard boats were flashing signals to one another.

"That's what makes the difference in living at the academy—the first military training school to allow women within their sacred portals," said Ensign Agnes Bixby of Arlington, Mass. Her dad, Alban Bixby had been a Coast Guard lieutenant commander, and this was all the indoctrination Agnes needed.

The day in school starts with Communications class at 0800 (8 A. M.) given by Lieutenant Commander Smenton, who combines serious discussion with practical humor.

After classes and dinner there was a mending bee. The SPARS settled in the room of Lieutenant (jg) Lea Burke of Los Angeles. Lea, sewing name tapes on her Mainbocher outfit (which is the same as that of the WAVES except for the Coast Guard metal insignia) said: "I doubt whether any group has ever been met with as much enthusiasm and co-operation as we have at the academy."

"I love it, too," said Lieutenant (jg) 'Mike' Lyne of West Virginia, "but I'd sure like to inveigle one of you gals into ironing my collars."

"Well, I dislike washing shirts," Lieutenant Beatrice Ball chimed in. Beatrice had been the first woman ever to be appointed to the United States Park Police, Department of the Interior.

"Okay," said Mike as they shook hands, "you iron my collars and I'll wash your shirts."

The girls sat around humming "Semper Paratus" (Always Ready), the Coast Guard marching song, curling each other's hair and manicuring nails.

But underneath comraderie the real serious purpose was not forgotten for a moment.

There are 5,000 Coast Guard billets that can be handled by women, including draftsmen, electrician mates, radio technicians and gunners mates.

Rear Admiral James Pine, superintendent of the Coast Guard Academy, says:

"We are very glad to have the SPARS here. They impressed us as being a very superior group of women and the academy is undoubtedly the best place for them to get a good picture of the Coast Guard in general."

SENATOR FINN CITES RAIL SERVICE NEED

Introduces Resolution on Resumption of Passenger Line

Other Members of R. I. Senate Favor Action on Transportation in State

Pointing out the war has greatly overburdened transportation facilities leading in and out of Newport, Senator John H. Finn, Newport Democrat, introduced a resolution in the senate Tuesday directing the public utilities administrator, Thomas A. Kennelly, to call to the attention of the New Haven Railroad the desirability and the necessity of resuming train passenger service between Newport, Fall River, Warren, East Providence and Providence.

The state administrator was directed to confer with the railroad authorities and report back to the senate before February 16. The resolution was passed after immediate consideration.

The measure struck a responsive chord among a group of senators, who echoed Senator Finn's sentiments that railroad passenger service is urgently needed on Rhode Island branch lines.

Senator George H. Waring, Tiverton, Republican, charged that small Rhode Island communities had "been discriminated against by the railroad which operates a main line through this state but cares nothing at all for the branch lines." He said there was not a single city of comparable size to Newport in the United States without train service, pointing out that since the war the population of Newport has swollen to more than 55,000 persons.

Senator William E. Sweeney, Warwick Republican, also seconded the resolution, declaring, "I hope something is done now about the railroad problem. This appears like a golden opportunity to obtain the needed service."

The motion also was seconded by Senators Fred C. Broomhead of Barrington and Clarence H. Horton of East Providence, both Republicans.

CAREER MAN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20 (AP)—G. C. Sperry got $50 after his evidence convicted a grocer of violating OPA price ceilings.

"Well, well," mused Mr. Sperry. Tuesday he testified in three more cases "and I have about 100 others coming up.

"I decided to become the Jesse James of the markets. I'm doing all right for myself and I figure it's a real service to buyers."

GAS STATION HOURS CUT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Service stations throughout the country may stay open not more than 72 hours a week, and for not more than 12 hours a day, the Office of the Petroleum Administrator ordered Tuesday. The only exception is stations staying open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The order is effective Saturday.

R. I. FLIER MISSING

The plane was piloted by Second Lieutenant John Wasson of Tucson. Other officers and crew members included Sergeant Henry P. Pelletier, son of Mrs. Marie Pelletier, West Warwick, R. I.

BOMBING CAPITALS

After a lull of many months, Berlin and London are being bombed by opposing air forces. Unlike the previous blitz that the Nazis loosened on London, this time the odds appear to be with the Royal Air Force, which wrought much devastation in Berlin. Comparatively, the Luftwaffe's assault on the British capital was mild.

It was presumed that the rival forces had an understanding not to bomb each other's capital. There is something akin to this in land fighting. Until the Japanese broke all the rules, it was not considered good form to fire on one another, under ordinary circumstances, during meal times. Soldiers, of course, must eat, be they either British or German.

What caused the end of the agreement not to bomb the capitals, if there was one, is not known. The R. A. F., much stronger now than in the fateful days of 1940, carried the attack to the German metropolis with devastating force. The first onslaught caught the Nazis so much by surprise that only one attacking bomber was shot down. The next night, however, it was different. The British lost 22 aircraft.

Once the "block buster" bombs had rained down on Berlin, it was expected that the Nazis would retaliate. The British were ready for them with the fiercest anti-aircraft barrage the world's largest city has ever known. "Puny" was the word used to describe the Nazi attempts to gain revenge.

Now that the bars are down in the bombing, observers will watch developments. Rome, "the eternal city," has been saved from bombing so far. It is not certain that this will be continued. Should there be any such attack, it seems certain that the Vatican would be left unscathed as far as the United Nations were concerned.

This does not mean, though, that no bombs would fall on the Vatican. It is conceivable, in what the war has brought forth by Italy's stabbing of France, Germany's assault on Russia, and the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor that the Axis is capable of anything. To rouse the Christian world, it is at least possible that bombs might be dropped on the Vatican by the Axis, who would then seek to blame the United Nations.

The counter bombing of Berlin and London is taken in some quarters to mean that the pace of the war is being quickened. Germany is not doing at all well in Russia. It is on the defensive in North Africa. It must stand ready to defend the European continent. In the meantime, the United Nations may be parrying for a possible knockout blow.

COWPENS

Many who read of the launching of aircraft carrier Cowpens at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation yards Sunday had to scratch their heads and go to the history books to recall details of that Revolutionary battle from which the new craft got its name.

Cowpens was a battlefield near the northern border of South Carolina, not far from King's Mountain. On January 17, 1781, General Morgan with 800 men took possession of two knolls with the rear of the force on the Broad river. Tarleton, who was the famous cavalry commander of Cornwallis, attacked the Americans with 1,100 men.

The American militia deployed, used their rifles with good effect and then withdrew to shelter. Tarleton thought the battle was won and ordered his men to charge straight for the river. The British were met with a central force of American riflemen, while the militia under Andrew Pickens fell on one flank. American cavalry under William Washington fell on the other.

When the fight was over, 270 British were dead or wounded, 800 were taken prisoners and more than 1,000 muskets were taken. The Americans lost only 12 men. Tarleton, with a handful of followers, fled. Coming soon after King's Mountain, the defeat was a severe blow to Cornwallis, and was a great source of encouragement to the American forces.

So the aircraft carrier has a great tradition in its name, and one that undoubtedly it will live up to. Incidentally, it was the fourth carrier launched at those yards in 20 weeks, the Independence, Princeton and Belleau Wood being the others. The Cowpens was converted from a 10,000 ton cruiser part way through construction. It was named by the daughter of Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., commander of the South Pacific force of the Pacific Fleet.

There is something particularly appealing in naming these carriers after famous battles in American history. These great ships are carrying those names into combats that will also go down in the country's annals as epoch-making engagements in our struggle to brush from the world the Axis terrors. Their very names will be a stimulus to their crews to live up to the courage and fortitude of the men who first fought that this country might be free.

JUJUTSU PEACE

The words of Joseph C. Grew, former American ambassador to Japan, that the Japanese, once they find they are losing the war, will open a peace offensive based on the jujutsu principle of throwing an adversary off guard and then coming in to deliver the final blow, should be well borne in mind by our leaders.

As Mr. Grew said, the Japanese are capable of any form of trickery in their determination to invade and conquer the United States, and this country and our Allies should be on the guard for the possibility of a peace feint. The Japanese military code may not permit surrender, but once they are on the downgrade in the war they might look for a compromise where they could avoid the disgrace of defeat and retain part of the gains they have made already by their treachery.

Mr. Grew has said time and again that the Japanese will not crack. Our own naval and army officers have conceded the bravery of the Japanese troops. The self-confidence of the Nipponese, though, is bound to be badly shaken after they have received more reverses. In fact, it is possible that right now some of their leaders are not so cocksure as they were at the outset of the war. They have found that this country is not so soft as they had imagined it.

The former ambassador does well to emphasize that the United States will not be free from danger until the Japanese military machine and the military caste that operates it "have been wholly crushed and destroyed on the field of battle." Japan must be utterly overwhelmed and completely disarmed. Even after our planes have bombed Japan, as they undoubtedly will again, it will be no time to lull ourselves into the sleep of false security. That will be the time, rather, to clamp down harder and harder until the enemy is flattened so he will never rise again.

There may be some who feel that Mr. Grew is painting the picture blacker than it really is, but he has been on the scene. He knows the Japanese character to the core, and it is better to take his judgement than those of persons who are not familiar with a race that is noted for its treachery. Never again should the United States trust Tokio. The Japanese should be particularly watched if they come forth with a peace feeler, for they are capable of anything in order to gain their own ends.

In Chicago, workers just had recovered from surprise over the theft of nine steel girders from in front of a Loop building, when they discovered that 34 one-foot square timbers weighing 9,540 pounds had disappeared from their storage yard. They said it would take three husky men to lift one beam onto a truck.

COLLECTORS' SALE
ON ESTATES FOR TAXES DUE AND UNPAID

Middletown, R. I.
December 5th, 1942

The undersigned Collectors of Taxes of the Town of Middletown hereby give notice that they will sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the Town Hall in said Town of Middletown on Thursday, January 28th, 1943, at two o'clock P. M., those parcels of real estate for the levy upon which notice was given and which were advertised January 6th, 1943, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the taxes and assessments assessed thereon for the years 1940, 1941 and 1942.

The sum set against the description on the several estates shows the amount due thereon respectively for the tax and assessments for the non-payment of which each of said estates are to be sold, but not including costs and interest thereon and costs and charges incident to this sale.

For a more particular description of said estates reference is made to the Tax Assessors Records as the same appeared June 15, 1940, June 15, 1941 and June 15, 1942, in the office of said Town Clerk of said Town.

TERMS: CASH.

Washington Day Book

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The last person I would have expected (and perhaps you, too) to get off on the wrong foot in the 78th Congress was Rep. Clare Boothe Luce. Being the wife of Publisher Henry Luce, Mrs. Luce was justifiably expected to know all about reporters. Being a "journalist" herself, she should have been familiar enough with reportorial routine not to have tripped over her own backyard clothesline, but that's just what she did.

When Congresswoman Luce arrived at Union Station here, she had a reception committee. It was composed entirely of the press. The train was 20 minutes late, which didn't upset "the press" but apparently did Mrs. Luce. She ducked out the other way and dashed for her hotel. "The press," having but one idea in mind—getting an assignment off its neck—followed.

At her hotel, Mrs. Luce, to say the least, was inaccessible. The next day, she explained that she was late for an appointment, had been travelling for days, had to freshen up a bit, and had no intention of being rude.

LET it go at that. But there never has been a better example of the difference between Broadway-Hollywood and Washington. Clare Boothe Luce, Broadway playwright and Hollywood scenarist, played the old mo'om picture trick of ducking the press. That's something Washington newsmen and women don't comprehend, understand, or quien sabe.

President Roosevelt does it occasionally. With him, it's a sort of game, but he always makes up for it with a front page story. That secret of winning forgiveness has been employed by more political bigwigs than the Capitol Dome could find seats for.

Evidently, Clare Boothe Luce got an inkling overnight of this Washington secret. Her press conference the next day wasn't page one, but after a bit of hemming-hawing and parrying some fingernail work from the feminine contingent, Mrs. Luce settled down to the capital formula that freshmen congressmen (and women) should be seen and not heard.

AS one of the more objective reporters put it: "Mrs. Luce sidestepped comment on major political issues until she had a chance 'to look into them,' but in all put up a good defense and acquitted herself well. She said she would abide by the rules of the House on committees (she had been asked if she would try for the Foreign Relations committee) and would make her first maiden speech when she had something to say."

That's something more like a Congressional freshman.

The Congresswoman from Connecticut seems to have gone a long way toward recovering her first misstep.

Freshman Congress members whose first press conference is a combination of "a Vassar homecoming weekend, the powder-room scene from 'The Women,' and moving day on the third floor back," rarely recover so quickly.

VETERANS ASSOCIATION INSTALLS ITS OFFICERS

Newport Unit Reports 17 Members in Service Including Its Commander

The officers of the Newport Veterans' Association were installed Tuesday evening by Edward F. Limmer, past commander, at a meeting in Odd Fellows hall. Reports showed that 17 of the members are in the military service. Among them is Fred Hummell, commander of the association, who is serving with the cavalry. In his absence, Edward McCauley, senior vice commander, is the presiding officer. A supper was served at Chinn's before the installation.

These are the officers:

NEW WAY TO CATCH FISH

SAYRE, OKLA. Jan. 20(AP)—Claude Beeson, game ranger, shot a duck that fell so far out in the lake he couldn't retrieve it. Going to his car he got his casting rod attached a large hook and began casting for the duck. He pulled in not only the bird but a five-pound bass!

TITCOMB CIRCLE ELECTS MRS. MOUSLEY LEADER

Mrs. B. F. Thurston Retires from Office; Unit Presents Sketch at Meeting

Mrs Benjamin F. Thurston, leader of Titcomb Circle, Women's Society for Christian Service of St. Paul's Methodist Church, retired from office at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Harvey K. Mousley, wife of the pastor, was elected leader for 1943. Mrs. John W. Thompson was elected recorder and Mrs. James G. Albro, collector. Reports of officers were presented.

The business period which was followed by the presentation of a sketch, "Linking Latitudes," given by Mrs. Thurston and Mrs. Stanley Rusling. The theme was based on the current studies of South America.

NAVAL HOSPITAL PROGRAM

A semi-professional entertainment, featuring Larry Blue, professional accordionist, was held under the auspices of the Jewish Welfare Board at the Naval Hospital Red Cross house Tuesday evening. The committee in charge was Mrs. Louis Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gold, Mrs. Gustave Oberhurd, Mrs. Sonner Seigal and Miss Rose Desotnek.

SCHOOLS TO EXPAND PHYSICAL TESTS

Grades Three, Seven, Rogers Junior Students to be Examined in Spring

Children of three more grades in the public school will be given complete physical examinations this spring, probably in April or May, Dr. Michael F. Walsh, acting superintendent of schools, has announced. Grades three and seven in the elementary and the Juniors in high school will be included. The students in grades one and five and the high school Freshmen have been examined.

By June, 1944, Dr. Walsh said, the school department will have a physical record of every child in school in Newport, with all 12 grades finished in two years since this plan began. The physical examination card will follow each pupil through his school career, with all information kept confidential.

GOVERNOR TO PRESIDE

At the meeting of the Council of State Governments in Baltimore next Tuesday, Governor J. Howard McGrath will introduce Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator. Governor McGrath will preside at a session at which Ickes will speak on the fuel situation.

BEFORE SUNLIGHT

[Theodore Morrison in The Atlantic Monthly]

Now the star-lifted night cheek of the world,
Turns eastward, and her dream of dark
Becomes a dream of brightness. Hark,
The sun's lips hunt us from the abyss
Like shining horns hid in a depth of wood.
You in my arm's crook sleep against my kiss
Dreaming your own calm dream or sleeping still
Without a dream. Deep is the calm and deep
The secret revery you keep.
Ah, lie forever motionless at this
While a rich host of moments glides away
And yet the spell that binds them does not die!
But no, the sun is posting from the wood
And soon will burst out from his shadowy lair
With all his trumpets, blasting the dull air
To mica-twinkling flames. Ah, wake with me
To wake is also good.
When the light whispers to the dreamless ground,
The plum tree bough like a gray spider's knee
Squats by the window, and the meadow lark
Makes his first droopiny flight.
And still you sleep
With calm deep breath lying against my kiss.
The lark and the gray plum tree can beguile
Only a sleeper's fluttering smile
To show that your deep dream turns with the world.
To show whose lips have reached you from the abyss:

FRENCH BOY FRIEND OF U.S. ARMY

Greets Soldiers, Composes Primer Advising Them How to Get Along in Africa

[By Harold V. Boyle]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY, CASABLANCA, FRENCH MOROCCO, Jan. 20 (AP)—The stoutest friend the American army has found here is a young French Moroccan schoolboy who wrote the soldiers a letter of greeting and composed for them a primer of advice in quaint English on how to get along in Africa and "making so their life easy."

The letter was thrust into the hand of Captain Everett J. Gordon, a medical officer of 321 N street, SW, Washington, D. C. by one of a group of schoolboys to whom he spoke kindly as they watched him direct the unloading of a supply truck.

"I wrote this letter in my English class, and I decided to give it the first American soldier who greeted me," the French lad explained shyly. "I hope it will help you."

The letter read:

"To my lovely and very dear American friends:

"You cannot imagine how much glad, pleased, happy, we are all now, when enjoying ourselves with our admirable and wonder-

"Sure! We are now kept in good hands. Everyone knows, appreciate too much their value, their sympathetical friendship, and we are all very grateful to you.

"The Americans have always been the better friend of the French, and if they have come here, it is for a good cause:

"First, to take us off from the yoke of the Germans.

"Second, to put good order in our Department.

"Third, to bring us from America, goods, materials, clothes, eatings etc.

"It goes without saying they have always been good-hearted men and every one here, whoever he will be, is very grateful to them, you know, here a great misery.

"God save America! Thy willing wishes her every best success! And put her up above all, that is to say: on the scent of victory and on the trail of the triumph.

"Amen. Dieu m'entende! God hear me!"

The first of three postscripts was devoted to telling doughboys what to beware of. It said:

"For showing so my brotherly friend friendship for my American friendship for my American same words, counsels, advices, making so their life easy:

Counsels, advices, for being careful:

"Never change any American money with a French one."

The writer then appended a series of English phrases and how to say them in French. That he was not too unfamiliar with soldier interests may be judged by a few of his selections: "May I accompany you?" "Where can I find wine?" "Where are you going?" "How much the glass for each one?" and "We want to meet any girl."

The last postscript listed the prices the lad thought soldiers should pay for their drinks and warned them to pay these figures "only—no more."

He put the price of cognac at 10 francs a drink and champagne at 100 francs a bottle. Soldiers actually have been paying up to 45 francs a slug for cognac and 300 francs ($4) or more for bottles of champagne.

The schoolboy closed his letter with "Vive L'Amerique! Vive La France!" He did not sign his name but penciled on the letter a note that; "I have an uncle who is in New York." He gave his uncle's name as "Dr. Nathan Huberman, 415 Hart street, Brooklin, N. Y."

FORAND, FOGARTY NAMED

Forand was selected for the House ways and means committee. There is a formality that they must be confirmed by the full membership.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A movie set is the place to learn about gambling—the easy way.

Today, for instance, after watching Cary Grant engineer a mighty coup for charity on his gambling boat for "This Way to Victory," I can let you all in on a secret:

Gambling doesn't pay. You can't win.

Cary's job was tough but it was in the script. He had to pick up $200,000 from a crowd of only 200-odd suckers in a single evening. He did it, of course, but Al Rhein, the technical man, said he doubted that it could be done in a single evening with that small a "house,"—"unless," he added, "they fixed the wheels and the cards."

Al is a movie actor and technical adviser today, but he used to be a professional dealer. Worked on the gambling boat Rex—which was subsequently put out of business—and in many another house of dice and cards. It was Al who gave me my short course in gambling—the easy way.

Al, though he's not in the game any more, is still a disciple of "honest gambling."

"IT'S always proved out," he said, "that a house that deals on the level makes more money than a house that cheats. The sneak joints have to get the money quick because they don't know when they'll be raided. A house where gambling is legal—say in a state that permits it—knows it'll get the money anyway, given enough time. The only way you can beat the house is to have enough money to double your bet each time. You're bound to win eventually. But you have to be in a no-limit game—and the house always puts a limit on bets. See?"

For a "clean game," here's an argument: "You let a man play four or five times and then you pull some dirty work. You break him and distress him. But you play straight, and he wins once in a while, so he'll come back and tell his friends." . . .

THE "unseen percentage" in all the games favors the house. A nickel of every dollar spent at roulette goes to the house—the customers don't miss it (unless they're heavy losers) but the nickels mount up. That's the "unseen percentage." . . .

Al says this isn't telling any trade secrets. And it won't hurt the gambling houses. It's like that traveling salesman in the story. Stranded in a small town, he asked a native if he knew of a game he could get in, to kill a few hours. The native said, "Sure, but it's crooked." So the salesman walked around, and pretty soon he found himself in the crooked game. He was cleaned. Back at the station he met the native again. "But didn't I tell you the game was crooked?" the native said. "Sure," said the fellow, "but it was the only game in town."

JUST SPECTATORS

KANOSH, Utah, Jan. 20 (AP)—The roar of airplanes overhead, the warning squall of auto horns and the crackle of flames—destroying the town's largest store—awoke residents of this western Utah village.

It was not air raid, they learned. The racket was to summon volunteer firemen.

The airmen? Just watching the fire.

FIRE AT TONOMY HILL

Combination 1 answered a still alarm at 8:09 this morning and was away from headquarters 57 minutes. The call came from the home of Lieutenant J. Greene at 20 Winslow street, Tonomy Hill, where a rubbish fire had gained some headway in the boiler room of the apartment. The damage was slight.

SKILL IN NURSING SICK STRESSED

Care Needs More Than Sympathetic Heart, Willingness, Says Nurse

(By Wilda Camery, R. N., Community Service Society of New York)

The gap between available nursing service and the need for nursing services is great in our country. That's why so many American women have already responded to the call to become nurses' aides and are spending their free time supplementing professional nursing care in hospitals. Others, forced by home responsibilities to remain at home, realize their need for basic skills to be able to give adequate care during illness.

It demands more than a sympathetic heart and a willing pair of hands to give a bed bath, and comfortably without having exhausted yourself.

Eve making a bed becomes a a bit difficult when it has to remain smooth and free from wrinkles while a restless child occupies it 24 hours a day.

Taking a temperature is not mastered by instinct. The best of cooks may find that preparing trays that appeal to the capricious appetite of an invalid has its difficulties, to say nothing of devising schemes by which to get necessary nourishment into the patient who insists he can't swallow lying flat on his back.

A knowledge of other nursing measures, such as treating nose bleeds, insect bites and chilling; the ability to follow the doctor's orders correctly in administering medicines; giving ear irrigations, applying eye compresses; and doing simple dressings, add much to a mother's security and to her ability to meet the needs of her family. Even such a common comfort as a hot water bottle has been known to cause severe complications when unwisely applied.

When life was simpler and hospital care less common, American women learned from each other. Today, in many communities public health nurses call in homes to give care during sickness and to teach mothers, but the public health nurse is not always available. The mother who has learned nothing about home nursing until the crisis of acute illness or injury occurs may find experience costly. We learn much from the printed page and spoken word but many of the nursing skills can be learned only by observing and practicing. That is why the American Red Cross is sponsoring classes in home nursing all over the country this winter.

During 1942, twice as many workers in the lumber and saw mill industry quit their jobs as the national average job separation for all industries.

"BEST STORY OF YEAR"

FREMONT, Jan. 20 (AP)—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Walker, publishers of the Fremont Guide and Tribune. The newspaper published a story about it on the front page under an eight-column wide headline that called it "The Biggest Nebraska Story of the Year" and chided The Associated Press editors for having ignored it when the greatest stories of the year were selected.

BOSTON TO MISS WANER, COONEY

Paul Noted for Generosity; Driving Ban Boosts Hockey Attendance

(By Bill King)

BOSTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—The National League is going to be a very strange outfit to many of us without Paul Waner and Johnny Cooney . . . Who said that 1943 would be another baseball heyday for the oldtimers?

Bob Quinn of the Braves had Tuesday in mind back in 1940 when he declined Cooney's financial assistance while he was lining up enough backers to take up C. F. Adams' majority holdings in the club . . . "I'd love to have Johnny in with us," Quinn said then. "But it seems very poor business to have one of your players holding stock in your club. How could you ever let him go when he started to slow up? Players can be released, but not stockholders." . . .

It is more than likely that Cooney could live very comfortably in Sarasota for the remainder of his life without touching another baseball . . . He was one of several baseball folk, including Casey Stengel, who derived handsome profits from oil investments . . . But Cooney is so certain that some other major league club will want his services that he rejected Quinn's offer to get him an AA managerial job. . . .

Waner, one of the greatest batters of all time, has been a most unusual baseball personage . . . Few have ever gained wide fame for being open-handed . . . Paul, as his colleagues expressed it, "was as loose as ashes with his bucks." . . . We recall the testimonial dinner that commemorated his 3,000th base hit last June . . . The Braves management, his fellow players and the baseball writers, a group that totaled more than 100 gathered to do him honor and present him with suitable gifts . . . Paul was so appreciative that he tried to pick up the checks for not only the dinner but for all of the postprandial elbow-bending as well . . . Just a mere matter of about $500 . . . And he was rather irked about it all when he was ruled out of order. . . .

We also recall how eager he was to become the seventh 3,000 hitter in major league history . . . And how he objected when he suspected that the official scorer intended to boost him into that select circle by ruling a questionable binge a base hit . . . "I insist that my 3,000th be a hard and clean drive," he said. "If I can't get it that way, I don't want it." A few days later, he made it according to his own exacting specifications . . .

As far as the Boston Bruins' treasury is concerned, the ban on pleasure driving is just what it needed to boost attendance . . . The attendances for the three games that have been played here since pleasure drivers were ruled off the highways have totaled almost 47,000 . . . That's about twice as many as they pulled for the three previous games to which their patrons could drive to providing they had the gasoline . . . "How do you account for that?" Uncle Art Ross was asked . . . "We're not trying to. We're just very happy about it all," he replied. . . .

BOXING'S VALUE IN BATTLE CITED

Officer Tells of Benefits from Ring Experience in Jungle Warfare

(By Sid Feder)

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The difference betwen a boxing glove and a bayonet is apparent even to the most casual observer, but take it from Colonel Harvey Miller, the marines who know their beak-busting have found it an especially healthy habit in places like Guadalcanal.

The boys are "learning like never before," says Colonel Miller, that a practical knowledge of boxing is important staff, and the reason is as simple as sitting down. This is it:

"In the ring, the correct side-step means only the difference between a knockdown or being knoced down. In the jungle, the some side-step instinctively performed—without boxing gloves but plus bayonets—may mean the difference betwen life and death. That's a big differnce.

There's no loser's end in the jungle league, "Colonel Miller adds for the special benefit of the Jacobs Beach-combers who might like their theory knocked down to the simple terms of the trade. "The motto is 'kill or be killed.'"

Colonel Miller is more widely known as Heinie Miller, the permanent secretary and former president of the National Boxing Association. A fight fan from 'way back, the colonel is the most prolific letter-writer in all the fight industry.

In his latest literary production from marine headquarters in Washington, Miller suggests boxing give up such intra-mural merry-go-rounds as the current lightweight muddle. . .

Calling for boxing to recognize its duty and concentrate on encouraging and teaching youngsters the sport as a means of self-defense in the "jungle had-to-hand league," Miller contends that a state commission has no more dicense to give away a world championship "that the Arizona legislatue has to give away the Statue of Liberty."

"Unity of purpose is most essential to boxing now," he writes, "because it has suddenly become big enugh to be very important in national defense."

"This war with Tojo," he goes on, "proved quickly that on Tojo's side of the Pacific, at least, boxing and its kindred mayhem—wrestling, jui jitsu and judo—are far more important than they were in 1917-18. Tojo elects to fight that way chiefly because he is absolutely lusy with infantry weapns at any range over 150 yards.

"And the fellow who doesn't know what it's all about in a close fight to the death is as much out of place as the lad who enters teh ring nothing about infighting. What's more, he has picked a tough spot to learn.'"

DE LA SALLE TOPS PAWTUCKET EAST 39-34

Crusaders Roll Up 15-4 Score in First Quarter

Upstaters Have Margin in Other Periods; Jay Vees Lose to Positions

De La Salle Academy cagers, coasting through on their first half margin, scored their third win of five starts Tuesday evening on the home court by downing Pawtucket East High School 39-34.

Dick Hole, academy centre, took scoring honors with 16 points. Captain "Duke" Bolani of the locals and "Bud" Shannon of Pawtucket were deadlocked in second place with eight points each. Phil Kenney was third with seven points.

The Crusaders started at a terrific pace and rolled up a 15-4 quarterly count Employing a stiff defense and claiming cantrol of the backboards, the local cagers held the Pawtucket courtmen beyond the halfway mark.

In the second period, with substitutes taking the places of the regulars the Academy's smoothness gave way to outright roughness. Shots began falling short, passing because sloppy, and, shaken up by the Upstaters' more organized system of play, the Academy courtmen dropped a 7-5 quarterly count to the Easterners. The score was 20-11 at half time.

The Upstaters managed to work in close in the second half and let go with a bombardment that forced the Purple and Gold cagers to spend a great deal of the time on the defense. Both clubs scored in zig-zag fashion but in both quarters the Pawtucket men managed to sneak in an extra basket thus taking a third period 11-9 count and fourth quarterly lead of 12-10.

Captain "Duke" Bolani and Phil Kenney played good games for the Crusaders. Bolani, who usually confines himself to defensive measures, let loose with several bucket shots and one handers from the side. Twice on the backboards he snatched the ball from Eastern players, dribbled the length of the floor and scored both times.

George M. Mullervy Well Known Here; Worked in 1942 ESCIT

Another of the Rhode Island Interscholastic basketball officials will be lost for the duration as George M. Mullervy, one of the officials in the De La Salle-Pawtucket East game, Tuesday night, will enter the navy the latter part of this week as lieutenant, junior grade.

Mullervy has numerous friends in this city, both as a player when at East Providence High and Brown University, and since as an official in the Interscholastic League. He was one of the officials chosen for the 1942 ESCIT.

DODDS ON ALL-AMERICAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Leslie MacMitchell defeated Gil Dodds twice in their three meetings last winter and was clocked in the year's fastest mile at 4:07.8 but the Boston theolgian was named to the All American track team today by Dan Ferris of the A.A.U.

Although Dodds lost more often than we won from MacMitchell, then a New York University athlete but now an ensign, the Boston A.A. runner did triumph in the National A.A.U. indoor mile and in the outdoor 1,500 meter event.

ROGERS HIGH TRIMS MT. PLEASANT 64-27

Newport Scores 32 Successive Points Without Return

Reserves Hold Upstaters in Check, Add to Margin in Second Half

Rogers High School basketball team trounced Mount Pleasant High of Providence 64-27 Tuesday afternoon in the Mount Pleasant gymnasium. It was the third league win for Rogers against two loses and it placed the Red and Black in a three way tie for first place with La Salle and Cranston.

The large floor surface upset the Rogers players at the start and they were entirely lost for the first two minutes.

Mount Pleasant looked like world beaters in these two minutes as the Rogers defenses failed to stop them and the upstaters scored six points on three spectacular baskets. The Rogers players were shooting short and could not tally so Captain Andie Morrow called for a time out to shift around a little. This was just what the Newporters needed as they started out on a scoring spree and poured 32 successive points into the nets before the opposing players were able to score another point. It was 16-6 at the end of the opening period.

In the second period Rogers so dominated the play that Coach Delaney finally broke up his first string combination. This kept the score down a little but the reserve players were also in good form and it was 38-10 at the halfway mark with Rogers paying more attention to its passing game than to running up the score.

In the second half Coach Delaney never called on any of his first stringers. Even the reserve groups however proved to be stronger than the Mounties and with Joe Lalli in rare form Rogers continued to dominate the play throughout. Rogers was in front 54-20 at the end of the third period.

Both teams went at it hammer and tongs in the final period and although the Rogers lineup was shuffled and shifted, it managed to hold a 10-7 scoring advantage for the period. The Rogers subs showed some fine pass work and were on a par with the opposition defensively. They followed the play and covered both backboards well, and their ball handling for the greater part was good.

Tongue A Variety Meat

Variety meats are not restricted and they are good buys. These meats are inexpensive and very nutritious.

Dinner Menu (Serving 4 Or 5)
Braised Tongue
Buttered Carrots and Turnips
Whole-Wheat Biscuits
Fruit Salad Bowl
Maple Indian Pudding Cream
Tea

Braised Tongue

1 fresh tongue	2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons fat, melted
2 cups tongue stock	½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons chopped onions	2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup chopped celery	¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Scrub the tongue and tie it into a circle with white cord. Add salt to water and add tongue. Simmer 4 hours. When cool enough to handle discard skin and muscles at the thick end of the tongue. Tie tongue again in a circle and place in baking pan. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons flour and add rest of ingredients. Cover and bake an hour. Uncover and bake 10 minutes. Baste every 15 minutes with drippings left in pan. Remove to serving platter. Discard cord and cut tongue into thin crossway slices (leave it in the round shape on the platter). Fill center with buttered carrots and turnips.

Maple Indian Pudding

½ cup cornmeal	2 eggs, beaten
½ cup raisins, optional	½ cup maple sirup
2 cups milk	½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine	¼ teaspoon nutmeg
	¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix together cornmeal, raisins and 2½ cups milk. Cook in upper part of double boiler, directly over heat for 5 minutes. Stir frequently. Cook covered in double boiler for 15 minutes. (Fill lower part of boiler ½ full of hot water.) Add butter, eggs, sirup, salt and spices. Beat and pour into buttered, baking dish. Pour rest of milk over top. Bake in pan of hot water 1½ hours in moderate oven. Serve this pudding hot with cream.

Everett Johnson, presiding, reports of officers and committee chairman were read. In the absence of Mrs. Alan G. Davenport, chairman of the nutrition committee, her report was read by the secretary, Miss Florence Andrade. Mrs. Albert A. Taylor reported on the Christmas fund from the town for the men in the service.

The eighth grade won the prize for having the largest attendance at the P. T. A. meeting. At the close of the meeting a community sing was held, after which a talk was given by Dr. C. B. Ceppi on "Rheumatic Fever."

The weekly meeting of the army and navy officers' wives Red Cross sewing was held Tuesday afternoon at the USO club, with Mrs. Richard Prince and Mrs. Garmise as hostesses.

A party for a number of British sailors was held Tuesday evening at the USO club. In the absence of Mrs. Andrew Robertson, general chairman, Mrs. John H. Wright, Mrs. Frank Jones and Miss Cecile Lariviere acted as hostesses. The guests entertained with an impromptu stage show and Daniel Butler of Jamestown gave a talk on his eight years spent in Norway, and showed pictures depicting the life and activities of the people in that country, and answered many questions from members in the audience. Refreshments were served. This evening there will be badminton, dart bowling and shuffleboard.

A meeting of the committee management of the cub was held Tuesday, and a committee composed of Director Warren Balentine, Assistant Director Earl H. Hobson, Andrew M. Robertson, Charles H. Brooks, Colonel John F. Datson, LeRoy F. Meredith was appointed to make plans for the celebration of the club's first birthday, February 28.

SAILORS WANT PRO BASEBALL

Joe Lous May Get Film Role; Grid Team, Coach Volunteer for Army

[By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—The other day Morris Siegal, who was a sports writer before he became a sailor, wrote a column for the Norfolk Seabag, naval training station paper...It was headed, "We Want Baseball," and since Siegel should know what his shipmates think, we'll give you a few samples of what he has to say... "We feel that professional baseball is as legitimate as any other business and is more necessary than a lot which are operating today under the guise of being 'essential to the war effort.'... Baseball is part of America, part of what we're fighting for today.. How would we regard a big, strapping outfielder at a ball park when some of us thought he should be in a defense plant? Well, if he struck out, we couldn't think so much of him, but if he hit a home run he'd be 'good people' in our book...We don't recommend the deferment of men to play baseball. Simply give the fellows who are trying to provide a little wholesome recreation a bit of encouragement."

No parking: A busload of Detroiters had a surprise the other day all because bowler Andy Varipapa, who had been conducting a pinspilling school there, happened to be walking along Woodward avenue...As the bus drew up to Varipapa, the driver brought it to a sudden halt, in the middle of the block and opened the door..."Hi, Andy," he shouted "I've got my average up 12 pins since you changed me from three to four steps."

One-minute sports page: Producers of the show, "This Is The Army" are after Sergeant Joe Louis to appear in the movie version...And Dick Richardson, the Georgia sub who had that date with Betty Grable, actress, may be offered a picture contract as a result of that gag...Baseballers Peewee Reese, Dixie Walker and Max Macon are working together in a Louisville war plant...The entire first team of the Wissinoming Boys Club, winner of Philadelphia's Pop Warner football league championship, volunteered for induction in the army and their coach, Robert Wiley, went right along.

When Benny Leonard invites the big-time fighters out to Hoffman's Island, where he is a physical instructor in the Maritime Service hit won't let them get away with merely taking a bow. They have to box a couple of rounds against one of Benny's kids . . . and they're tickled to get the chance.

Service Department; Fort Sheridan, Ill., claims the first WAAC basketball team is the one being organized there by Corporal Marion E. Swan, recreation leader of the fort's feminine contingent . . . Lieutenant Jesse Hill, former Yankee outfielder, is going from the St. Mary's Cal., navy pre-flight school to the new Del Monte school in the general shuffling of officers . . . Joe Knight, former Southern light heavyweight champion who is boxing instructor at the Bainbridge, Ga., army air field, has found so many pupils among the cadets that he"s planning a post tournament . . . Word from North Africa is that Jimmy Dunn, former Western Maryland footballer and Northeastern U. coach, has been promoted to captain in the army . . . and from Australia golfer Frankie Strafnel, now a sergeant, says his low scores aren't too surprising. "Out here you have to be straight. "Out explains. "I played eight rounds with only one ball in my possession. A slice or a hook means the ball is gone; that's how high the rough is in this 'tiger country.'

SPORTS NOTES

Price's Neck will play the 207th Coast Artillery (AA) and the Section Base will meet the Training Station in basketball games tonight at the Service "Y."

At Aquidneck Hut tonight the Vernon A. C. will play the Ramblers at 7 o'clock. The Flying Eagles are scheduled to meet the Fifth Ward Independents at 8 o'clock, in the second half of the Recreation League.

O'Neills and Dugans are expected to furnish most of the thrill at the Mary Street "Y" Thursday night in the Industrial league triple header. In the other games, Connie's Bombers will play the Coast Guard and Torpedo School will oppose the North Ends.

SUPER-MOSQUITOES

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 20 (AP)—People who live in the U. S. A. should go to Australia if they want to make the acquaintance of a super race of mosquitoes says Private Frank Jones in a letter to his mother.

He drew a picture that showed a man-size mosquito equipped with goggles, gas mask, hobnailed shoes, combat cutters and spikes to prevent sliding while dining.

"Three of our aircraft engaged one and after a long arduous battle they managed to shoot it down." Private Jones said in discussing his theory that the mosquitoes are equipped with armor plate.

GALAHADS LOSE TO K OF C QUINTET

Knights Forge Ahead in First Quarter, Hold Lead in Game at Webster Gymnasium

The Galahad's record of six wins was broken last night when the Knights of Columbus took the game at the Webster gymnasium by a 50-37 score. The Knights were ahead 32-15 at the start of the second half and picked up 14 points in the third quarter, while the Galahads got 13. In the final quarter the Galahads made a try for the game when they tossed in nine points against the Knights' four, but the lead could not be overcome. Scoring honors went to H. Grinnell of the Galahads with 19 points. Crombie of the Knights had 12.

ON FARMER DEFERMENT

Workers Deemed Essential Not To Be Drafted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Local draft boards acquired additional authority today to permit deferment of agricultural workers deemed essential to food production.

Liberization of the deferment rules, announced by Selective Service Tuesday night, followed Congressional criticism that many farms were being crippled by induction of their workers.

While production of 16 war units of essential products was the standard in the past for deferring an agricultural worker, a new guide for local boards provides that individual production may be as little as eight units.

The unit is a measure of production of essential farm products with one milk cow, one acre of beets and one acre of carrots, for example, each representing a unit. The boards, however, may set the deferment standard as high or as low as their judgment dictates.

TOWN COUNCIL CHANGES MEETING DATES

Middletown Body Acts to Comply With Governor's Plan on Monday Closings

Co-operating with the governor's plan to close public buildings on Mondays for the duration of the heating season, the Middletown Town Council, meeting Tuesday afternoon, voted that during this period all regular meetings will be held at 1:30 P. M. the third Tuesdays of each month. The change in days of meeting, except in one or two instances where regular dates were shifted for single meetings, was the first time that councilmen could recall that the council has not met the third Monday of each month.

A report of Harold G. Burdick, health officer, was received. Acting on a recommendation the council directed the clerk to notify Alice Ostway and Margaret Crowley, proprietors of La Fiesta on West Main road, that sanitary conditions around that restaurant must be remedied before the next council meeting.

William H. Coffey was appointed an auctioneer.

These bills were ordered paid:

Health department, $11.80; Civilian Defense, $100.02; police department, $319.60; Nunes Motor Co., Inc., $11.75; John Mello $53.20; Minkin Auto Radio Store $5.50; Luna's Service Station, $140.30; Andrew Harris, Inc., $33.47; Edgar W. Graham, $95.47.

Also, Newport Water Works, $244.10; Chase & Chase, $11; E. L. Freeman Co., $22; James A. Peckham, $200; Jennie T. Murphy, $80; Newport Gas Light Co., .69; William B. Scott & Co., Inc., $1.25; Renier Bulk, $35; Pacific Oil Co., $111.25; Robert T. Allan, $83; Regina Roxbury Agency $21.50.

Also, Fire Department, $392.83; Jos. T. Kelly, $24.00; J. T. O'Connell, $44.27; U. G. Nason, $3.29; Brinley Garage, $136.10; Highway Dept., $451.72; Tractors Inc., $33.35; Newport Oil Corp., $6.75; W. T. Manning $129.75; Broadway Hardware Co. $15; Newport Lumber Co., $13.01; Newport Electric Corp. $55.23; New Eng. Tel. & Tel., $23.61.

NATIONAL PENSION BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Persons over 60 would receive pensions ranging from $60 to $75 a month under a national pension system proposed in a bill (HR1281) by Representative Lane, Republican, Massachusetts.

The system would be financed by a two per cent tax on wages, salaries, commissions and all other income derived from business transactions.

JAP SHIP LOSSES TOTAL ABOUT 445

Axis Says Tokio is Building Junks, Rafts to Overcome Shortage

[By Murray Rose]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Slashing steadily away at Japan's vital and long-extended supply lines, Allied submarines, warships and planes have destroyed at least 445 Japanese naval and merchant ships, and reports from Axis sources indicate the Nipponese are facing a serious shipping shortage.

With their conquests sprawled over more than 5,000 miles of the Pacific ocean, and their ship production unequal to match the pace of their sinkings, the Japanese apparently are turning desperately to some other means of sea transport to alleviate their position.

Recent reports from Axis propagandists said the Japanese were striving to overcome transport shortages with the construction of large numbers of Chinese-type junks and tremendous rafts. The Berlin radio, in broadcasting a Tokio despatch, emphasized that it took one to two months to build a junk, intimating that time was one factor that had influenced the Japanese in favor of this type of construction.

Berlin also spread the Tokio report that the Japs have begun construction of rafts made of bamboo, with a surface area of some two and a half acres, to transport army materials, and said the floats would be ready for service in February.

American submarines, sometimes slipping up the very mouths of Japan's great harbors, alone have sunk 717 vessels, probably sunk 22 and damaged 31. These daring raids have put the enemy face to face with the problem of increasing convoy protection with a diminishing number of ships.

The Japs have been hit hard by the loss of 98 cruisers and destroyers, essential for convoying purposes, with their continuing operations in the "rat trap" Aleutians, Solomons and New Guinea campaign proving exceptionally costly.

On the basis of army and navy announcements, the Japanese have lost 67 vessels in the Solomons, and 15 in the Aleutians. A War Department spokesman said General MacArthur's forces destroyed 16 warships and 86 merchantmen in the New Guinea campaign.

TWINS IN COAST GUARD

BOSTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Mirror twins—Clifton S. and Clifford S. Gustafson, 21, of 241 Taber avenue, Providence, were among a group of 30 civilians and enlisted Coast Guardsmen who left Boston headquarters today to train for commissions at Groton and New London, Conn.

Coast Guard officers said that the only apparent means of telling them apart is that one writes left handed and the other right handed.

Graduates of Brown University, they excelled in sailboat racing for that institution.

Harrington, county vice president and a former president of the auxiliary, was the installing officer and hostess for the meeting at her home, 541 Thames street. The retiring president was commended on her administration and presented with a gift.

The officers:

President, Mrs. Josephine Wilkins; vice president, Mrs. Dell Novine; financial secretary, Mrs. Helen La Pierre; recording secretary, Margaret Harrington; treasurer, Mae Harrington; sentinel, Mrs. Annie Albee; mistress-at-arms, Mrs. Esther Roderick; chairman of standing committee, Mrs. Bridget Maguire; chairman of Irish history, Mrs. Bridget Albertson.

MACHINISTS DONATE TO MARCH OF DIMES

Local 119 to Have Full Time Assistant Secretary at Headquarters

Local 119, International Association of Machinists, meeting in Carpenters Hall Tuesday evening endorsed the March of Dimes program and voted to contribute $25.

The lodge was notified that a full time assistant financial secretary will be on duty at its headquarters. The arrangements were made by Timothy Hurley, auditor of the grand lodge. Miss Hazel Osmond has been engaged to fill the position.

A meeting will be held Friday evening.

YOUR INCOME TAX

RETURNS BY PERSONS ABROAD

Federal income tax returns for the calendar year 1942 must be filed not later than midnight of March 15, 1943. However, individuals who during any period of time after December 6, 1941, have been continuously outside the Americas for more than 90 days, are allowed an extension of time to file a return, amounting to such period plus 90 days. A like extension applies to the payment of tax. Moreover, military and naval personnel in service outside the continental United States, or on sea duty, and American citizens in enemy occupied territory, are permitted to defer the filing of a return until their return to the United States or until the close of the war.

Earnings from employment and personal services outside the United States, for periods longer than six months during the year, are exempt from taxation unless the employer is the United States or an agency of the United States. The period of foreign employment need not be continuous, but if broken, only calendar months are to be considered in determining the six-month period. Fractional parts of a month from several months may not be added to make whole calendar months, since whole calendar months must consist of consecutive days of absence from the United States in any one trip.

The term "United States" means the states, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia. It should be noted that if income is exempt because earned abroad, expenses incured in earning this income may not be taken as a deduction in the return.

AWARD FOR HARUNA SINKING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Decoration of a Flying Fortress bombardier for plastering 29,000-ton Japanese battleship Haruna cleared up today any remaining doubt as to whether the big warship, pride of the Japanese fleet, was listed officially as sunk in the first week of the war.

Word of the decoration of Sergeant Meyer S. Levin of Brooklyn, received from Australia Tuesday, told of the Haruna listing and sinking after his bomb load had been dumped upon her.

MRA MEMBERS LOSE APPEAL

Board Refuses to Remove 25 From Class I-A

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Appeals for occupational deferments for nine members of the Moral Re-armament Movement have been denied by Draft Appeals Board No. 4, which backed its decision with an opinion sharply denouncing the MRA.

Twenty-eight alien workers of the MRA have been seeking deferments on the claim that as MRA workers they created moral uplift in war plants, and helped produce a skit, "You Can Defend America". The local board has notified 25 of the 28 of its refusal to remove them from 1-A. The cases of the other three are pending.

The appeals board decision announced Tuesday cited statements attributed to Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the movement, who was quoted as saying in 1936 that he thanked God for Hitler and believed God could control nations through the dictators.

PROMISE TO BOMB ROME IMPLIED

Commons Told of United Nations' Post-War Economic Co-operation Plans

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP)—An implied promise that Rome will be bombed by the RAF "as heavily as possible, if the course of the war should render such action convenient and helpful," was voiced by Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, to the House of Commons today.

He was asked if he had information that there were a military camp and armament factories in or near Rome.

Eden replied affirmatively.

Then he was asked whether Rome was an open city.

"I think," he answered, "that the prime minister made it plain last September that we have as much right to bomb Rome as the Italians had to bomb London, and we should not hesitate to do so to the best of our ability and as heavily as possible if the course of the war should render such action convenient and helpful."

Commons answered him with cheers.

Some Italian planes were identified as among raiders that struck sporadically at London in the early days of the bombings.

Eden also told Commons today the British government intended to prepare a common program of post-war economic co-operation in consultation with the United States, Soviet Russia and the other United Nations, and said considerable progress had been made in preparatory work.

Asked by a member whether this meant there was no truth to a rumor that the British government and the U. S. S. R. were at loggerheads, Eden replied:

"I think I can reassure him completely on that point."

Eden made no reply to questions concerning the appointment of Marcel Peyrouton as governor general of Algeria and North Africa politics generally.

ENGINEER DIES

MAPLEWOOD, N. J., Jan. 20 (AP)—Nathaniel Atherton Richards, 59, president of Purdy & Henderson Associates, Inc., New York consulting engineers, died Tuesday at his home, 27 North Crescent street, after a long illness.

Among buildings he designed are the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Tower, Lord & Taylor's, Saks Fifth avenue and the Bank of Manhattan Building, New York; the Industrial Trust Company building, Providence, and the Royal Bank of Canada building, Montreal.

EVACUATION ANNIVERSARY

Today is the first anniversary of the registration of children and others for evacuation from this city in case of an emergency. In the year's interval about 6,500 have been registered and given the necessary tags, the city zoned, and a plan completed whereby the children and their mothers will be moved quickly from the city, in case of a bombing emergency.

ISLAND BAPTISTS HOLD CONVOCATION HERE

Eight Represented at Session at Second Baptist

Team of Leaders Conduct Event; The Rev. Dr. James A. Cooper Gives Keynote Address

Eight Baptist churches of the Aquidneck Island Area were represented at the convocation held at the Second Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon and evening. The local meeting, attended by 272 at the afternoon and evening sessions, was the third of four similar state meetings. Sessions have been held in Westerly and Pawtucket. The closing convocation took place in Providence today.

A team of Baptist leaders staged the local convocation, the theme of which was "Spiritual Foundations." The Rev. Joseph A. Cooper, D. D., was leader, with the Rev. Frank B. Fagerburg, D. D., pastir of the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles, the Rev. Edward Catlos, pastor of the First Bohemian Church of Chicago, and Mrs. Orrin R. Judd of Brooklyn, N. Y., second vice president of the Northern convention, as other leaders.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Cober, general secretary of the Rhode Island State Convention, introduced the team. The Rev. Lester Revoir, pastor of the host church, was chairman of the convocation committee. Between sessions, a supper was served to 165 at St. Paul's Methodist Church, with Mrs. Sarah Bailey King in charge.

The keynote address was made at the afternoon session by Dr. Joseph A. Cooper. There was an address by the Rev. Edward Catlos. The Bible period and meditation were led by the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Fagerbury. At the evening session, Dr. Cooper led the devotions. The first address was by Mrs. Judd, who made an appeal for self-dedication to the service of Christ. The other address of the evening was by Dr. Fagerburg, whose theme was the saving power of Christ.

ROGERS PTA HEARS OF WAR JOBS TRAINING

Lieutenant Mullen Tells of Work of Schools

Explains Necessity for High School Education; Unit Holds Business Session

Lieutenant Joseph A. Mullen, U. S. N., training officer at the Naval Torpedo Station on leave of absence from the Boston Trade School, spoke at the monthly meeting of Rogers Parent Teachers Association Tuesday evening on "How the Secondary School Can Train Pupils to Get Jobs in War Industries." Mrs. E. F. Merrill, a delegate to a recent P. T. A. conference on the new physical courses in the schools, also spoke.

Introduced by Holbert T. Smales, head of the vocational department at Rogers High School, Lieutenant Mullen explained the necessity for a high school education for young men and women entering war industries. Many school boys, he said, are given opportunities in these industries and can earn considerable money, pointing out that they are now getting paid at a rate once unheard of. Many of the school boys and girls, he noted, are mentally lazy, however, and this may be traced to their early discipline and training by parents and teachers. On the whole, though, the teachers and parents of America, he said, are doing a wonderful job.

Lieutenant Mullen said that Rogers is doing a great work in connection with school boys in local war industries. The school should be thanked and Mr. Smales in particular, he added.

Declaring that his remarks were his own thoughts and expressions and did not reflect the policy of the Navy Department, Lieutenant Mullen said, "A lot of workers coming into the state are thinking of the war from a financial viewpoint." Among problems he mentioned were "misfits who gripe about light, food, hours, shifts and noise"

On the other hand, Lieutenant Mullen cited the work of a woman who quit her job in Fall River to work for the government because her brother was at Wake Island. "If a few more had brothers at Wake Island, production would go up," he said.

On the matter of production, he said, "Machines at the station are working 24 hours a day. In England, I understand, three persons work five machines. But someone at a recent conference at the station said the unions would object to similar procedures here. If the fighting line were 22 miles from Newport, I doubt if anyone would object to one man running six machines."

Mrs. Harold T. Lowe, president of P. T. A., presided at the meeting, which was arranged by Miss Alice F. Higbee, program chairman. The subject of the February 16 meeting is "Physical Culture in the School." This will be discussed by the R. O. T. C. and members of the Rogers faculty.
